Thriving in Ministry Series: "Understanding Church and Personal Finances"
Erdman Hall 2:00–5:30 p.m.
Cooper Conference Room

"Understanding Church and Personal Finances" is the subject of the next event in the Thriving in Ministry series. Those attending will look at church finances as they relate to the pastor, the congregation, and the community. In addition to being preachers and teachers, pastors are often asked to make or endorse financial decisions, a task for which they rarely have expertise.

This workshop will highlight potential pitfalls for new pastors, including the advantages and disadvantages of using church "volunteers" in finance, versus using outside, professional help. Leaders for this event are the Reverend Allan Johnson-Taylor, an Episcopal priest and a member of the Pennsylvania Diocesan Council, and a consultant who helps churches choose and install accounting and church-related software; and the Reverend Bruce D. Tacy, pastor of John Calvin Presbyterian Church in Annandale, Virginia, who came to ministry after seven years in banking.

The Thriving in Ministry series of workshops is designed for students preparing for parish ministry. The workshops are open to all—no registration is necessary.

◆ Thursday, January 30
"A Christian Perspective on War with Iraq"
Mackay Auditorium 12:30–1:30 p.m.

Seminarians for Peace, an affiliate of Seminarians for Social Change, invites the PTS community to a presentation and discussion by the Reverend Robert Moore, who, in addition to serving two local congregations as an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ, also serves as executive director of the Coalition for Peace Action based in Princeton and cocoordinator of the New Jersey Coalition Against War in Iraq. Bring your lunch.

◆ Thursday, January 30
Poetry Night: "Supporting Survivors of Sexual Abuse"
Main Lounge 6:00–8:00 p.m.

Seminarians Organized Against Rape (SOAR) invites the PTS community to add their voices to the poetry of Dr. Thema Bryant-Davis, SHARE program coordinator at Princeton University, and Dr. Suzanne Stutman, professor of English at Penn State University at Abington.

Share your own poetry or read another's. Your poetry may directly pertain to the experience of abuse, victimization, and the healing journey, or it may relate to this theme in other creative ways. For more information, contact Mary Beth at mary.lecroy@ptsem.edu or Todd at todd.noren@ptsem.edu. To sign up, contact Amanda at mary.adams@ptsem.edu.

Survivors of abuse and those who support them are welcome. Both men and women are welcome.

Continuing Education Event: "Sermon Camp"
Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

This workshop, led by Robert C. Dykstra, PTS associate professor of pastoral theology, will encourage participants to identify and reclaim their own interests and desires in service to more vital pastoral preaching. It is designed for both experienced preachers who seek to recover their original wonder in preaching and also for those new to the art of pastoral preaching. Participants are encouraged to read Dykstra's book, Discovering a Sermon: Personal Pastoral Preaching, prior to the workshop, as this event will be based on the book.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

Erdman Gallery Art Exhibit
Carol Sara Schepps "Fabrications"
Erdman Hall

A fashion and graphic/communication design graduate of the Pratt Institute of Technology in Brooklyn, New York, Carol Sara Schepps brings her love of fabric, color, and graphic design to her medium of textiles and thread. She has exhibited in a variety of galleries and juried exhibitions, including Snyderman's in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and the 1999 International Quilt Festival—Quilts, Inc.—in Houston, Texas. She writes: "My artwork examines the light, reflection, and complex elements that make up otherwise common objects. By unfolding the relationship of lights, darks, and color, I break down an image and translate it into a mélange of fabric and construction techniques." Gallery hours are:

Monday–Saturday	8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Sunday	2:30 to 6:30 p.m.

A gallery talk and reception for the artist will be held Friday, February 21 at 4:30 p.m. in the Erdman Art Gallery.

◆ Monday, February 3
Continuing Education Event: "Paying Attention: The Key to Preaching during Lent"

Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

The Lenten season is rich with preaching and liturgical possibilities that are reminders that the key to preaching during Lent is paying attention. This seminar asserts the importance of paying attention as we hear God's voice in the Scriptures, the traditions of the season, the events in our world, and the personal experiences of members of our congregations. Only when we pay attention to the voice of God in all of these forms can we truly be preachers who proclaim the good news with a contagious passion.

This seminar will both refer to the lectionary texts for the Lenten season and also focus on provocative Lenten sermon series that will help the congregation to grow in faith. Through paying attention to these rich Lenten resources, we will also receive a personal gift as preachers—namely, we will learn to pay attention to our own spiritual lives. Don't miss this opportunity to be reminded that paying attention to preaching is paying attention to God!

Thomas K. Tewell, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

Continuing Education Event: "Churches Making a Difference: Reaching Communities with Good News and Good Works"

Erdman Hall
4:00 p.m. (Wednesday) to 12:00 p.m. (Friday)

Is your church meeting both the physical and spiritual needs of your community? This seminar, based on the book Churches That Make a Difference: Reaching Your Communities with Good News and Good Works (Baker Books, 2002), will help church leaders explore the mandate for and the how-to's of developing and maintaining an effective holistic ministry that combines evangelism and social outreach. Building on their major study of leadership development in congregations engaged in holistic ministry, the authors/instructors will use a lecture/discussion format as they offer theological, sociological, and practical insights for engaging in holistic mission.

Philip Olson, vice president for church relations for Evangelicals for Social Action and a national director of Network 9:35 (a collaboration of a dozen Christian organizations that connects congregations engaged in holistic ministry and missions pastor at the First Presbyterian Church in Mt. Holly, New Jersey; Ronald J. Sider, professor of theology and culture at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary and president of Evangelicals for Social Action; Heidi Rolland Unruh, associate director of the Congregations, Communities, and Leadership Development Project (a joint project of Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary and Evangelicals for Social Action) and an author and speaker on faith-based organizations and charitable choice, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

◆ Friday, February 7 and Saturday, February 8
Class Steward Workshop

Erdman Hall, Cooper Conference Room
12:00 p.m. (Friday) to 12:00 p.m. (Saturday)

On Friday, February 7 and Saturday, February 8, alumni/ae representatives from the graduating classes of the last fifty years will be on campus for a fund-raising workshop. These class stewards work with their classmates to generate gifts to the annual Alumni/ae Roll Call. All Roll Call gifts are designated for student scholarship aid. Alumni/ae helping students is a PTS tradition.

The workshop is designed to inform the stewards about the Seminary today, and to involve them firsthand with the life of the campus. Many of these alumni/ae are returning to PTS for the first time since graduation. They are committed to the Roll Call because they want to assist today's students. They would welcome the opportunity to get to know current students on an individual basis. Please extend a gracious welcome to them.

Valentine's Dessert Social and Mini-Retreat

Main Lounge 7:30–9:30 p.m.
Vincentian Renewal Center 9:00 a.m.–1:30 p.m.
75 Mapleton Road, Plainsboro, New Jersey

All PTS married and committed couples are invited to a Valentine's Dessert Social on Friday, February 14 in the Main Lounge. A mini-retreat will follow on the morning of Saturday, February 15 at the Vincentian Renewal Center in Plainsboro, New Jersey (about 10 minutes from the Seminary).

The theme for the dessert social and retreat is "Tending the Hearth/Kindling the Fire: A Winter Metaphor for Keeping Romance and Passion Alive in our Marriage." The topic will be introduced Friday evening and developed further on Saturday. Couples who are unable to attend both are welcome to come to whichever segment they can make.

Howard and Betsy Friend are returning to provide leadership for both events. Howard and Betsy were married students at PTS. Betsy is a pastoral counselor and Howard has pastored Presbyterian churches for 30 years. The Friends teach marriage enrichment at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

The Friday evening gathering is free and dessert will be provided. The fee for the Saturday retreat is $15 per couple and includes lunch. Childcare is available for both events.

To register, stop by the Chapel Office or call the telephone number listed below by Wednesday, February 5.

◆ Facilities Announcement

Safety During Snow Removal

We need the understanding and cooperation of the entire Seminary community when the Seminary crew is in the process of removing snow, sanding/salting ice, etc. Please stay away from snow clearing machinery. This is especially important for children to understand. During previous snowstorms we have had several incidents of students and residents dodging in and out, in front of and behind equipment during plowing; accidents could easily have occurred.

Our equipment operators are working in bad weather, often with poor visibility, and traction is not the best. They must watch for vehicles, curbs, manholes, etc., while operating snow removal machinery. People darting in and out add to the difficulty of snow removal and pose a danger to these same people.

Parents, please keep your children inside or away from equipment when you hear or see plowing and snow clearing underway. We have had instances at CRW of children tunneling and playing in the snow drifts of the parking lots while the crews were trying to plow.

Lastly, as parking spots are cleared in the various lots, we ask students/residents to dig out their cars and move them to those open slots so we can continue to clear other spaces. Parking is at a premium in the best of times. Two-feet-plus of snow simply aggravates the problem as there is no place to put the snow.

We work hard to clear parking lots, driveways, and sidewalks for your safety and convenience. Your understanding and cooperation during snow removal operations is very much appreciated.

Erdman Gallery Art Exhibit
Carol Sara Schepps "Fabrications"
Erdman Hall

A fashion and graphic/communication design graduate of the Pratt Institute of Technology in Brooklyn, New York, Carol Sara Schepps brings her love of fabric, color, and graphic design to her medium of textiles and thread. She has exhibited in a variety of galleries and juried exhibitions, including Snyderman's in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and the 1999 International Quilt Festival—Quilts, Inc.—in Houston, Texas. She writes: "My artwork examines the light, reflection, and complex elements that make up otherwise common objects. By unfolding the relationship of lights, darks, and color, I break down an image and translate it into a mélange of fabric and construction techniques." Gallery hours are:

Monday–Saturday	8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Sunday	2:30 to 6:30 p.m.

A gallery talk and reception for the artist will be held Friday, February 21 at 4:30 p.m. in the Erdman Art Gallery.

Continuing Education Event—"Paying Attention: The Key to Preaching during Lent"
Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

The Lenten season is rich with preaching and liturgical possibilities that are reminders that the key to preaching during Lent is paying attention. This seminar asserts the importance of paying attention as we hear God's voice in the Scriptures, the traditions of the season, the events in our world, and the personal experiences of members of our congregations. Only when we pay attention to the voice of God in all of these forms can we truly be preachers who proclaim the good news with a contagious passion.

This seminar will both refer to the lectionary texts for the Lenten season and also focus on provocative Lenten sermon series that will help the congregation to grow in faith. Through paying attention to these rich Lenten resources, we will also receive a personal gift as preachers—namely, we will learn to pay attention to our own spiritual lives. Don't miss this opportunity to be reminded that paying attention to preaching is paying attention to God!

Thomas K. Tewell, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

Association of Black Seminarians presents "Gandhi, King, Ikeda Exhibit for Peace and Nonviolence"
Murray-Dodge Hall 6:00 p.m.
Princeton University

During this event several individuals who have demonstrated significant efforts for peace, civil/human rights, and nonviolence will be honored.

From the Seminary our own Dr. Peter Paris, professor of Christian ethics and liaison to the Princeton University African American Studies Program, will be honored. The Reverend Dr. William Howard, a PTS alum and pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, will also be honored.

The Reverend Dr. Lawrence Edward Carter Sr., dean of the chapel at Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia, will speak.

All students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to participate during the ceremony, which will honor the various recipients. There will also be an exhibit at Princeton University Chapel for the rest of the week. A small reception has been planned.

This event is sponsored by the Princeton University Office of Religious Life and the Association of Black Seminarians.

Continuing Education Event—"Churches Making a Difference: Reaching Communities with Good News and Good Works"

Erdman Hall

4:00 p.m. (Wednesday) to 12:00 p.m. (Friday)

Is your church meeting both the physical and spiritual needs of your community? This seminar, based on the book Churches That Make a Difference: Reaching Your Communities with Good News and Good Works (Baker Books, 2002), will help church leaders explore the mandate for and the how-to's of developing and maintaining an effective holistic ministry that combines evangelism and social outreach. Building on their major study of leadership development in congregations engaged in holistic ministry, the authors/instructors will use a lecture/discussion format as they offer theological, sociological, and practical insights for engaging in holistic mission.

Philip Olson, a PTS alum, vice president for church relations for Evangelicals for Social Action, a national director of Network 9:35 (a collaboration of a dozen Christian organizations that connects congregations engaged in holistic ministry), and missions pastor at the First Presbyterian Church in Mt. Holly, New Jersey; Ronald J. Sider, professor of theology and culture at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary and president of Evangelicals for Social Action; Heidi Rolland Unruh, associate director of the Congregations, Communities, and Leadership Development Project (a joint project of Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary and Evangelicals for Social Action) and an author and speaker on faith-based organizations and charitable choice, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

Class Steward Workshop

Erdman Hall, Cooper Conference Room

12:00 p.m. (Friday) to 12:00 p.m. (Saturday)

On Friday, February 7 and Saturday, February 8, alumni/ae representatives from the graduating classes of the last fifty years will be on campus for a fund-raising workshop. These class stewards work with their classmates to generate gifts to the annual Alumni/ae Roll Call. All Roll Call gifts are designated for student scholarship aid. Alumni/ae helping students is a PTS tradition.

The workshop is designed to inform the stewards about the Seminary today, and to involve them first-hand with the life of the campus. Many of these alumni/ae are returning to PTS for the first time since graduation. They are committed to the Roll Call because they want to assist today's students. They would welcome the opportunity to get to know current students on an individual basis. Please extend a gracious welcome to them.

◆ Tuesday, February 11
"Naming God: Male or Female?"
Main Lounge 7:00–9:00 p.m.
Fellowship for Understanding (FFU) is not a place to change other people's minds to one way of thinking. It is not a place to correct those "misguided souls" who disagree with you. Instead, Fellowship for Understanding is a forum where theological and pastoral issues that affect PTS's campus life today and pastoral ministry in the future will be discussed.
Arlene Dunn, a PTS middler, will facilitate this discussion. Serving as executive director of a mediation center in Virginia, she was a family, civil, and group mediator for four years.
Come spend an evening in safe conversation about how we talk to God. Come participate in dialogue intended to broaden our understanding, not fracture our fellowship. FFU is a safe place for your opinion to be heard and a place for us to listen to others.

◆ Friday, February 14 and Saturday, February 15
Valentine's Dessert Social and Mini-Retreat
Main Lounge 7:30–9:30 p.m.
Vincentian Renewal Center 9:00 a.m.–1:30 p.m.
75 Mapleton Road, Plainsboro, New Jersey
All PTS married and committed couples are invited to a Valentine's Dessert Social on Friday, February 14 in the Main Lounge. A mini-retreat will follow on the morning of Saturday, February 15 at the Vincentian Renewal Center in Plainsboro, New Jersey (about 10 minutes from the Seminary).
The theme for the dessert social and retreat is "Tending the Hearth/Kindling the Fire: A Winter Metaphor for Keeping Romance and Passion Alive in our Marriage." The topic will be introduced Friday evening and developed further on Saturday. Couples who are unable to attend both are welcome to come to whichever segment they can make.
Howard and Betsy Friend are returning to provide leadership for both events. Howard and Betsy were married students at PTS. Betsy is a pastoral counselor and Howard has pastored Presbyterian churches for 30 years. The Friends teach marriage enrichment at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary.
The Friday evening gathering is free and dessert will be provided. The fee for the Saturday retreat is $15 per couple and includes lunch. Childcare is available for both events.

◆ Facilities Announcement

Safety During Snow Removal

We need the understanding and cooperation of the entire Seminary community when the Seminary crew is in the process of removing snow, sanding/salting ice, etc. Please stay away from snow clearing machinery. This is especially important for children to understand. During previous snowstorms we have had several incidents of students and residents dodging in and out, in front of and behind equipment during plowing; accidents could easily have occurred.

Our equipment operators are working in bad weather, often with poor visibility, and traction is not the best. They must watch for vehicles, curbs, manholes, etc., while operating snow removal machinery. People darting in and out add to the difficulty of snow removal and pose a danger to these same people.

Parents, please keep your children inside or away from equipment when you hear or see plowing and snow clearing underway. We have had instances at CRW of children tunneling and playing in the snow drifts of the parking lots while the crews were trying to plow.

Finally, as parking spots are cleared in various lots, we ask students/residents to dig out their cars and move them to open slots so we can continue to clear other spaces. Parking is at a premium in the best of times. Two-feet-plus of snow simply aggravates the problem as there is no place to put the snow.

We work hard to clear parking lots, driveways, and sidewalks for your safety and convenience. Your understanding and cooperation during snow removal operations are very much appreciated.

Continuing Education Event—"Healing, Prayer, and St. Clare"
Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

Thirteenth-century spiritual leader and kindred sister to Saint Francis, Clare of Assisi was acclaimed and sought out for her healing power both while alive and after her death in 1253. Numerous healings were attributed to her and recorded in the Acts of the Process of Canonization and the Legend of Saint Clare. How do Christians understand the significance of these events credited to her? What can be said about the nature of her power to call forth healing? Through presentations, reflection, and ritual, participants will explore how this holy woman's faith, witness, and method of prayer can inspire and guide contemporary women and men in search of a way of being for healing body, mind, and spirit.

Eileen Flanagan, assistant professor at Neumann College in Aston, Pennsylvania, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

1:30 p.m (Tuesday) to 3:00 p.m. (Wednesday)

Are you a bit flabby, or a little on the wimpy side, when it comes to your "fiscal fitness"? Cosponsored by the Board of Pensions of the Presbyterian Church (USA), this financial planning seminar will help members of the benefits plan and their spouses address the issues surrounding the management of their money—including an understanding of their present situation, getting control of their spending, making the best use of their benefits and the tax laws, and saving for the future.

Developed in response to retirement planning seminar participants who asked, "Why didn't you tell us some of this sooner?", this program is designed primarily for those in early or mid-career who need to start thinking about these issues now. Program costs are covered by the Board of Pensions.

James W. Graham, an education specialist for the Board of Pensions, and John W. Stewart, associate professor of ministry and evangelism at PTS, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

◆ Tuesday, February 11
"Naming God: Male or Female?"
Main Lounge 7:00–9:00 p.m.

Fellowship for Understanding (FFU) is not a place to change other people's minds to one way of thinking. It is not a place to correct those "misguided souls" who disagree with you. Instead, Fellowship for Understanding is a forum where theological and pastoral issues that affect PTS's campus life today and pastoral ministry in the future will be discussed.

Arlene Dunn, a PTS middler, will facilitate this discussion. As executive director of a mediation center in Virginia, she was a family, civil, and group mediator for four years.

Come spend an evening in safe conversation about how we talk to God. Come participate in dialogue intended to broaden our understanding, not fracture our fellowship. FFU is a safe place for your opinion to be heard and a place for us to listen to others.

Valentine's Dessert Social and Mini-Retreat
Main Lounge 7:30–9:30 p.m.
Vincentian Renewal Center 9:00 a.m.–1:30 p.m.
75 Mapleton Road, Plainsboro, New Jersey

All PTS married and committed couples are invited to a Valentine's Dessert Social on Friday, February 14 in the Main Lounge. A mini-retreat will follow on the morning of Saturday, February 15 at the Vincentian Renewal Center in Plainsboro, New Jersey (about 10 minutes from the Seminary).

The theme for the dessert social and retreat is "Tending the Hearth/Kindling the Fire: A Winter Metaphor for Keeping Romance and Passion Alive in Our Marriage." The topic will be introduced Friday evening and developed further on Saturday. Couples who are unable to attend both are welcome to come to whichever segment they can make.

Howard and Betsy Friend are returning to provide leadership for both events. Howard and Betsy were married students at PTS. Howard has pastored Presbyterian churches for 30 years and Betsy is a pastoral counselor. The Friends teach marriage enrichment at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

The Friday evening gathering is free and dessert will be provided. Childcare is available for both events.

◆ Monday, February 24 and Tuesday, February 25

Continuing Education Event—"Weathering Life's Losses: Moving through Mourning to New Beginnings"

Erdman Hall

10:45 a.m. (Monday) to 3:00 p.m. (Tuesday)

This event will focus on bereavement as a universal and integral part of our experience of life. Grief affects us both personally and communally in ways that we often do not have language to describe. Therefore, participants will have the opportunity to reflect on a healthy grief response to loss in personal and congregational settings, as well as an opportunity to explore the art of being an active agent in the healing process. Grieving incorporates tools that we already have: our faith, our own internal resiliency, and our courage to face the pain that does not last forever. Special attention will be given to strategies to help congregations face, learn, and practice the art of grieving.

Jane Searjeant Watt, executive presbyter for the Presbytery of Southern New England, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

◆ Monday, February 24 through Wednesday, February 26

Continuing Education Event—"The Song of the Verbs: Sermons with Power"

Erdman Hall

1:30 p.m. (Monday) to 12:00 p.m. (Wednesday)

This seminar arises out of the leader's conviction that the church is hungering for confident, kerygmatic preaching that does not merely comment on the culture, but actually embodies the explosive, world-overturning power of the God in whom we trust. Therefore, it is designed for preachers who already have some degree of confidence about their gifts and would like to develop them further. The active presence of the Spirit and the power of language as vessel for the living Word will be emphasized.

Fleming Rutledge, one of the first women to be ordained in the Episcopal Church and presently engaged in a nationwide ministry of preaching and evangelism, will lead this event.

PTS students, staff, and faculty, and their spouses, are invited to attend Continuing Education events free of charge, but advanced registration is required.

Alexander Thompson Lecture—"The Theological Cosmos of the Psalter"

Main Lounge 7:00 p.m.

Dr. Hermann Spieckermann, professor of Old Testament at Georg-August-Universität Göttingen in Göttingen, Germany, will be the lecturer.

Spieckermann's main areas of research and publishing are the psalms, wisdom literature, and Old Testament theology. He has published books on the impact of the Neo-Assyrian empire on the State of Judah in the seventh century B.C.E. and on the origins of the theology of the psalms, and a collection of essays on essential issues of Old Testament theology. Currently, he is interested in the contact of the postexilic Jewish community with Hellenistic culture and religion.

Following the lecture, a reception for Dr. Spieckermann will be held in the Private Dining Room.

General ❖ Notices

◆ Trauma Recovery Group Forming

A ten-week trauma recovery group for women who are survivors of childhood sexual abuse or sexual assault as an adult is being offered through SHARE on the Princeton University campus.

The group is supportive and informative, with weekly themes ranging from anger to trust to body image. No group members will ever have to share the details of their experiences. The group is led by Dr. Thema Bryant-Davis, coordinator of SHARE. If you are interested in individual or group sessions, please contact SHARE at 258-3310 or tbryant@princeton.edu.

Men who are survivors may also benefit from SHARE's resources, even though they may not participate in this group. They are encouraged to contact Bryant-Davis concerning their interest in receiving support.

◆ Food and Clothing Drive

All clothing and nonperishable food items may be donated Monday, February 17 through Friday, February 28. There will be five places on campus where boxes will be located to place donations: Mackay Campus Center, CN Center, and on the first floors of Brown, Alexander, and Hodge Halls. Anyone who brings donations to the "Remembrance of Her" coffeehouse on Friday, February 28, will receive a discounted cover charge. All food will be donated to Crisis Ministry and clothing will be donated to Homefront. This food and clothing drive is sponsored by the Stewardship Committee.

◆ Housing and Auxiliary Services Announcements

Center for Children Enrollment

Applications for summer 2003 and academic year 2003–2004 will be accepted beginning Monday, March 3. Applications are available at the center or in the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services. Please call with any questions. Parents who wish to re-enroll their children must submit a new application by Friday, March 7 to be guaranteed a slot. Enrollment will be based on a first come, first-served basis after that date.

To All Dormitory Residents

Please do not remove trays, glasses, plates, and silverware from the Main Dining Room. These items are being left in hallways and lounges, and it is not the custodian's responsibility to clean up. The Main Dining Room has plastic and paper goods that can be used to take food out of the building. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Drivers Needed

Student drivers are needed for airport and train station arrivals and departures for Seminary guests. Flexible hours. Apply at the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services, 203 Templeton Hall.

Summer Housing Applications—Dormitory Residents

The Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services is currently accepting summer housing applications for non-summer school students and those who have registered for summer school through the Registrar's Office and will need housing before and/or after summer school ends. The deadline for the summer housing applications is Thursday, March 28.

Rescue Mission Container

Looking to donate some clothing? For your convenience, a Rescue Mission container is now located at the West Windsor Campus behind 307 Emmons Drive. This container is for clothing only. All clothing donations need to be placed inside the container. The Rescue Mission will not accept donations that are left outside the container. Thank you for your cooperation.

◆ Self-Integration Seminar

A small group seminar will be starting soon to assist students (or spouses) with the life task of self-integration. Participants will use a workbook and learn a journaling technique for facilitating dialogue between parts of the self and God.

Some people are led by their minds, others by their emotions, others by ingrained "autopilot" patterns such as perfectionism, avoidance, or caretaking. In the group, participants will learn how to dialogue with their various inner "voices" and bring God's truth into the conversation. Through this process, feelings, reason, and wisdom work together; decisions become more conscious, and one's life more centered and effective.

The group will meet Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. beginning Wednesday, February 26 unless sufficient interest warrants a different day and time. A $20 fee covers the workbook and seven sessions. Some financial aid is available. Please call the Chapel Office ASAP to learn more.

A Symposium on Orthodox Mission

St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary
575 Scarsdale Road, Crestwood, New York
7:30 p.m. (Thursday) to 5:00 p.m. (Friday)

St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary is hosting a two-day mission symposium on the seminary campus, featuring His Beatitude Anastasios (Yannoulatos), Archbishop of Tirana, Durres, and All Albania.

The symposium begins at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday evening, with the bestowal of the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity honoris causa, and Archbishop Anastasios's lecture "Rediscovering Our Apostolic Identity in the 21st Century." The lecture is preceded by Vespers at 6:30 p.m.

Archbishop Anastasios is the foremost Orthodox missionary and missiologist in the world today.

On Friday, the symposium will feature lectures by the Reverend Luke Veronis, the Very Reverend Constantine Nasr, Protopresbyter Thomas Hopko, and the Reverend Michael Nasser.

The mission symposium is open to the public, and concludes with Vespers at 5:00 p.m. Registration is $20 for Friday participants and includes lunch. For more information or to register, please call 914-961-8313, extension 363.

◆ Monday, February 24 and Tuesday, February 25

Continuing Education Event—"Weathering Life's Losses: Moving through Mourning to New Beginnings"

Erdman Hall

10:45 a.m. (Monday) to 3:00 p.m. (Tuesday)

This event will focus on bereavement as a universal and integral part of our experience of life. Grief affects us both personally and communally in ways that we often do not have language to describe. Therefore, participants will have the opportunity to reflect on a healthy grief response to loss in personal and congregational settings, as well as an opportunity to explore the art of being an active agent in the healing process. Grieving incorporates tools that we already have: our faith, our own internal resiliency, and our courage to face the pain that does not last forever. Special attention will be given to strategies to help congregations face, learn, and practice the art of grieving.

Jane Searjeant Watt, executive presbyter for the Presbytery of Southern New England, will lead this event.

◆ Monday, February 24 through Wednesday, February 26

Continuing Education Event—"The Song of the Verbs: Sermons with Power"

Erdman Hall

1:30 p.m. (Monday) to 12:00 p.m. (Wednesday)

This seminar arises out of the leader's conviction that the church is hungering for confident, kerygmatic preaching that does not merely comment on the culture, but actually embodies the explosive, world-overturning power of the God in whom we trust. Therefore, it is designed for preachers who already have some degree of confidence about their gifts and would like to develop them further. The active presence of the Spirit and the power of language as vessel for the living Word will be emphasized.

Fleming Rutledge, one of the first women to be ordained in the Episcopal Church and presently engaged in a nationwide ministry of preaching and evangelism, will lead this event.

Continuing Education Event—"The Healing Arts: Psalms, Music, and Poetry"

Erdman Hall

3:00 p.m. (Friday) to 12:15 p.m. (Saturday)

This two-day theology and the arts program is designed for church musicians, pastors, Christian educators, and anyone interested in the interplay between music, Scripture, and poetry and the impact of that interplay on healing and wholeness.

Friday afternoon will include a lecture by William Brown, the Aubrey Lee Brooks Professor of Biblical Interpretation at Union-PSCE in Richmond, Virginia, titled "Psalms: A Hymnbook for Wholeness," and a lecture by Andrew Shenton, organist and director of music at Trinity Episcopal Church in Princeton, titled "Singing Psalms: Let Me Count the Ways."

On Friday evening, the Choir of Men, Teens, and Boys of Trinity Episcopal Church, under Shenton's direction, will present a concert of psalm settings through the ages (see event listed below). Ranging from plainsong settings to a new commission, the concert will demonstrate the extraordinary richness of both psalm texts and the music that has inspired them. A reception will follow.

Saturday morning will feature a lecture by Donald W. Shriver, president emeritus and the William E. Dodge Professor Emeritus of Applied Christianity at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, and Peggy L. Shriver, author of five books, including a book of poetry titled Reconciliation and the Art of Poetry, and a joint lecture by Abigail Rian Evans, the Charlotte W. Newcombe Professor of Practical Theology at PTS, and Paul Lehrer, a psychologist and a professor of psychiatry at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School of the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, titled "Healing: Spiritual, Religious, and Medical Perspectives." Upcoming ❖ Events

◆ Monday, March 3

Continuing Education Event—"Stewardship from Cradle to Grave"

Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

This workshop will explore a holistic approach to financial stewardship. Participants will review biblical, theological, and practical resources for assisting a congregation to move from seasonal programs to yearlong learning. Ministers and church members involved in congregational stewardship who are interested in increasing financial support for their congregation's ministry and mission are encouraged to take part in this event. Participants are asked to bring current church budgets, materials from the most recent stewardship campaign, and any other financial resources available.

Cynthia A. Jarvis, pastor of Chestnut Hill Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and Nancy E. Muth, pastor of The First Presbyterian Church in Germantown in Philadelphia, will lead this event.

For further information, contact the Center of Continuing Education at the number listed below.

◆ Monday, March 3

Alexander Thompson Lecture—"The Theological Cosmos of the Psalter"

Main Lounge 7:00 p.m.

Dr. Hermann Spieckermann, professor of Old Testament at Georg-August-Universität Göttingen in Göttingen, Germany, will be the lecturer.

Spieckermann's main areas of research and publishing are the psalms, wisdom literature, and Old Testament theology. He has published books on the impact of the Neo-Assyrian empire on the State of Judah in the seventh century B.C.E. and on the origins of the theology of the psalms, and a collection of essays on essential issues of Old Testament theology. Currently, he is interested in the contact of the postexilic Jewish community with Hellenistic culture and religion.

Following the lecture, a reception for Dr. Spieckermann will be held in the Private Dining Room.

◆ Wednesday, March 5
Women's Ordination Conference (WOC)
Main Lounge 12:30–1:30 p.m.

The Women's Center invites the PTS community to a presentation by the WOC of the Roman Catholic Church. The topic is "Women in the Roman Catholic Church."

The speaker, Eileen McCafferty DiFranco, a "cradle" Catholic, is a school nurse with the school district of Philadelphia and currently enrolled in the M.Div. program at Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. She graduated from Immaculata College with a B.A. in English and later attended nursing school and graduated from Chestnut Hill Hospital School of Nursing. She also holds an M.A. in health education from Arcadia University. She is a member of the core committee of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Women's Ordination Conference.

The WOC works for the ordination of women as priests and bishops into a renewed priestly ministry in the Roman Catholic church. To this end WOC:

- Works for justice and equality for women in our church;
- Strives to eliminate all forms of domination and discrimination in the Catholic church;
- Advocates inclusive church structures;
- Supports and affirms women's talents, gifts, and calls to ministry

The WOC is a U.S.-based Catholic organization working locally and nationally in collaboration with the worldwide movement for women's ordination.

prominent experts in economics, ethics, and theology who will provide provocative assessments of economic life and the common good in the increasingly economically globalized twenty-first century. Participants include:

- Robert Nelson, University of Maryland; author, The Religion of Economics
- Orley Ashenfelter, Princeton University; editor, American Economic Review
- John Schneider, Calvin College; author, The Good of Affluence
- Elwin Beukes, King's University College; past South African regional director, World Bank
- Robert Wuthnow, Princeton University; author, Poor Richard's Principle
- Max Stackhouse, PTS faculty member; author, Is Capitalism Good for Poor People?

Respondents include PTS professors Peter Paris, professor of Christian social ethics and liaison to the Princeton University African American Studies Program; John Stewart, associate professor of ministry and evangelism; Mark Taylor, professor of theology and culture; and David Miller, a Ph.D. candidate and president of the Avodah Institute.

The morning session will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 12:00 p.m. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 5:00 p.m.

The Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology is named for Abraham Kuyper, a theologian, church leader, former prime minister of the Netherlands, and founder of the Free University of Amsterdam. Kuyper was committed to the conversation between Christian faith and public life. He delivered a series of lectures on Calvinism at Princeton Seminary in 1898.

The conference is free and open to the public. Advanced registration is required and must be made by Friday, March 7. Space is limited. To register for the conference, please contact Sharon Kozlowski at 609-688-1935. Lunch will not be provided. Attendees are welcome to purchase their own lunch in the Seminary's cafeteria.

General ❖ Notices

◆ Trauma Recovery Group Forming

A ten-week trauma recovery group for women who are survivors of childhood sexual abuse or sexual assault as an adult is being offered through SHARE on the Princeton University campus.

The group is supportive and informative, with weekly themes ranging from anger to trust to body image. No group members will ever have to share the details of their experiences. The group is led by Dr. Thema Bryant-Davis, coordinator of SHARE. If you are interested in individual or group sessions, please contact SHARE at 258-3310 or tbryant@princeton.edu.

Men who are survivors may also benefit from SHARE's resources, even though they may not participate in this group. They are encouraged to contact Bryant-Davis concerning their interest in receiving support.

◆ Food and Clothing Drive

All clothing and nonperishable food items may be donated now through Friday, February 28. There will be five places on campus where boxes will be located to place donations: Mackay Campus Center, CN Center, and on the first floors of Brown, Alexander, and Hodge Halls. Anyone who brings donations to the "In Remembrance of Her" coffeehouse on Friday, February 28, will receive a discounted cover charge. All food will be donated to Crisis Ministry and clothing will be donated to Homefront. This food and clothing drive is sponsored by the Stewardship Committee.

◆ The Testament

The Testament, a forum for creative expression in the PTS community, is now accepting submissions of prose, poetry, and visual art. For the first time ever, The Testament is also soliciting recordings of original music for a CD. This semester's theme for both writing and music is "Transgression." The deadline for submissions is Monday, March 31. Please direct all questions and submissions to the editors (Jeremy Funk, Jeannette Sorice, and Stephanie Sparacio) at testament@ptsem.edu.

◆ Senior Interviews

Scott Weimer of North Avenue Presbyterian Church in Atlanta, Georgia, will be on campus Wednesday, February 26 (1:00 to 8:00 p.m.) and Thursday, February 27 (8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.) to conduct informal interviews for the position of associate pastor for neighborhood outreach and to answer questions.

Jack Norrie of the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield (Flourtown), Pennsylvania, will be on campus Thursday, February 27 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to conduct informal interviews for an associate pastor position with an emphasis on youth (see www.clc.pcusa CIF #07956) and to answer questions.

Robert McConnell, of the First Presbyterian Church of Manhattan, Kansas, will be on campus Friday, February 28 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to conduct informal interviews for an associate pastor position and to answer questions.

Please sign up for any of these interviews by emailing Patricia Korsak in the Senior Placement Office.

◆ Housing and Auxiliary Services Announcement

Center for Children Public Pre-K Enrollment

The Dupree Center for Children is now accepting applications for summer 2003 and fall 2003–2004 from parents outside the Seminary community for the Pre-K class (four to five years old), Monday through Friday, full-day only.

The Pre-K class has never been full, and now, for financial reasons, the Seminary finds it necessary to open that class to the public to fill any available vacant slots. Priority will still be given to children of employees and students. New enrollments from the public will only be accepted after new and returning PTS enrollments are confirmed. Here is how the application process will work for those from the public:

- "Public" is defined as anyone who is not a child of an employee or a student, for example, a grandchild of an employee, or a neighbor.
- Applications for the summer and academic year will be accepted by the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services beginning Monday, June 2, which is after the deposit deadline date for new and returning enrollments for children of employees and students.
- The only class available for public children will be the Pre-K class, Monday through Friday, full-day. No exceptions.
- Tuition for the class will be at the market rate (to be determined).
- Slots will only be assigned is space is available.
- Deposit deadline will be within two weeks of assignment of slot.

◆ Self-Integration Seminar

A small group seminar will be starting soon to assist students (or spouses) with the life task of self-integration. Participants will use a workbook and learn a journaling technique for facilitating dialogue between parts of the self and God.

Some people are led by their minds, others by their emotions, others by ingrained "autopilot" patterns such as perfectionism, avoidance, or caretaking. In the group, participants will learn how to dialogue with their various inner "voices" and bring God's truth into the conversation. Through this process, feelings, reason, and wisdom work together; decisions become more conscious, and one's life more centered and effective.

The group will meet Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. beginning Wednesday, February 26 unless sufficient interest warrants a different day and time. A $20 fee covers the workbook and seven sessions. Some financial aid is available. Please call the Chapel Office ASAP to learn more.

◆ Office of Academic Affairs Announcements

Seniors: Are you writing a senior thesis for course credit? If so, and if you have been in residence as a middler, you are invited to enter your thesis in competition for a Senior Class Fellowship for the pursuit of advanced study in Old Testament, New Testament, the Departments of History, Theology, and Practical Theology, or the Program in Religion and Society. Each fellowship carries an honorarium of $3,000. For instructions on submitting a thesis for a prize, please refer to page 187–188 of the Seminary catalogue (see last paragraph of this announcement).

Please Note: The copy submitted should be "clean," with no evaluative markings from the professor and no grade. It should indicate, however, the professor for whom it was submitted so that others can be appointed to review it for the award.

Important! Please send a letter to the Office of Academic Affairs, 126 Administration Building, no later than Monday, March 31 of your intention to enter a thesis and the area in which it is to be considered. A copy of the thesis must be turned in to the Office of Academic Affairs by 12:00 p.m. on the last day of classes, Friday, April 25. Please refer to the current issue of the Seminary catalogue (pages 188–190, and 197) for more information.

Senior and Middler Prizes

The Seminary annually awards two Robert L. Maitland Prizes of $1,000 each: one for the best exegesis of a passage of the New Testament and one for the best essay on an assigned subject in English Bible. The assigned exegesis passage for 2002–2003 must be related to Christology. The English Bible topic for 2002–2003 is "Issues in Biblical Theology."

For instructions on submitting essays for the two available Robert L. Maitland Prizes, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology

A sum of $1,000 is awarded annually for the best essay on an assigned subject in biblical theology. The subject for 2002–2003 is "The Elusiveness of God."

For instructions on submitting essays for The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

Book Signing

Barnes & Noble Bookstore 7:00 p.m.
3535 U.S. Highway 1, Princeton

PTS alumnus Obery Hendricks, immediate past-president of Payne Theological Seminary in Wilberforce, Ohio—the oldest African American seminary in the United States—will sign his first novel, titled Living Water (HarperSanFrancisco, 2003).

Living Water, inspired by the biblical story of the woman at the well and re-envisioned by Hendricks from an African American perspective, depicts a young woman's struggle to mute her passion for life in order to survive the strict social confines of her time. Catapulted into a series of abusive marriages, cast out and despised, she decides to define herself beyond men's desires and society's expectations—and brings redemption and healing to herself and her people.

Hendricks is presently on a national book tour. He is also a visiting scholar at PTS for the 2002–2003 academic year.

For more information about the book signing, please contact Barnes & Noble at 897-9250.

"To Heal the Body, Mind, and Soul: Dr. Matilda A. Evans of South Carolina, 1870–1935"

Princeton University, McCosh 28 4:30 p.m.

Darlene Clark Hine, the John A. Hannah Professor of History at Michigan State University, will deliver a lecture titled "To Heal the Body, Mind, and Soul: Dr. Matilda A. Evans of South Carolina, 1870–1935," at Princeton University.

The lecture explores the relationship of black women in the medical profession to the black church and the rise of healthcare activism in the decades prior to the civil rights movement of the 1950s and 1960s. It is sponsored by the Center for the Study of Religion and is a component of the Women and Religion in the African Diaspora project, funded by the Ford Foundation.

After receiving her medical degree at the Women's Medical College in Philadelphia, Evans practiced medicine for three decades in Columbia, South Carolina, specializing in the fields of surgery, obstetrics and gynecology. She devoted her career to mobilizing community and religious leaders to fight to make healthcare a civil right. A member of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Evans established two hospitals and a nursing training school, founded the Good Health Association of South Carolina, edited The Negro Health Journal and served a term as president of the Palmetto Medical Association. In 1931, she persuaded the South Carolina state health board to provide free vaccines to black children at a clinic housed in the Zion Baptist Church.

Hine has edited and written widely on African American history, particularly black women. The author and editor of more than 20 books, she most recently coedited The Harvard Guide to African-American History (2001). She has been a fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences (2000–2001) and at the National Humanities Center (1986–1987). She is currently the president of the Southern Historical Association.

For more information about the lecture, contact Anita Kline at 258-5545, or email askline@princeton.edu.

"Crossing Over Jordan"—African Americans and Care at the End of Life

Temple University, Mitten Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

"Crossing Over Jordan," a symposium presented by the Duke Institute on Care at the End of Life, and Vitas Healthcare Corporation, will take place on Tuesday,

March 11 at Temple University in Philadelphia.

This event is both a celebration of the African American community's rich cultural traditions surrounding death and dying and an examination of the challenges it faces in improving care at the end of life.

The conference features local and national speakers from fields as diverse as medicine, the humanities, and theology, including:

- Dr. Richard Payne
- Dr. Karla F.C. Holloway
- Bishop Simon Gordon
- The Reverend Dr. Steven Avinger Sr.

Questions to be raised at the symposium include:

- Do African Americans view death and dying differently from other groups?
- How does race affect decisions about care at the end of life?
- What can others learn from the African American community's rich heritage surrounding death and dying?
- Why are African Americans less likely to use palliative and hospice care, even when such care is accessible?
- What can physicians and other caregivers do to provide culturally sensitive care to the dying?

The all-day registration fee is $45. Online registration is taking place now at www.iceol.duke.edu.

◆ Monday, March 3
Continuing Education Event—"Stewardship from Cradle to Grave"

Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

This workshop will explore a holistic approach to financial stewardship. Participants will review biblical, theological, and practical resources for assisting a congregation to move from seasonal programs to yearlong learning. Ministers and church members involved in congregational stewardship who are interested in increasing financial support for their congregation's ministry and mission are encouraged to take part in this event. Participants are asked to bring current church budgets, materials from the most recent stewardship campaign, and any other financial resources available.

Cynthia A. Jarvis, pastor of Chestnut Hill Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and Nancy E. Muth, pastor of The First Presbyterian Church in Germantown in Philadelphia, will lead this event.

For further information, contact the Center of Continuing Education at the number listed below.

Contact: Center of Continuing Education
Phone: 497-7990

◆ Monday, March 3
Alexander Thompson Lecture—"The Theological Cosmos of the Psalter"

Main Lounge 7:00 p.m.

Dr. Hermann Spieckermann, professor of Old Testament at Georg-August-Universität Göttingen in Göttingen, Germany, will be the lecturer.

Spieckermann's main areas of research and publishing are the psalms, wisdom literature, and Old Testament theology. He has published books on the impact of the Neo-Assyrian empire on the State of Judah in the seventh century B.C.E. and on the origins of the theology of the psalms, and a collection of essays on essential issues of Old Testament theology. Currently, he is interested in the contact of the postexilic Jewish community with Hellenistic culture and religion.

Following the lecture, a reception for Dr. Spieckermann will be held in the Private Dining Room.

◆ Tuesday, March 4
"Christian Witness in Times of War"

Main Lounge 12:40–1:30 p.m.

In this lunchtime forum, Mark Taylor, PTS's professor of theology and culture, will lead a discussion of strategic options for faith's active expression of resistance to war (as distinct from just being against war). Options to be discussed will include, but will not be limited to, nonviolent strategic action and civil disobedience. Discussion will include consideration of the theological reasoning behind different options.

◆ Tuesday, March 4
Tax Seminar

Main Lounge 6:15 and 7:30 p.m.

The Office of Admissions and Financial Aid is hosting two tax seminars. A local CPA will be present to answer tax-related questions, give an overview of tax laws related to students and clergy, and provide tax forms, IRS publications, and other useful handouts.

The first seminar—for international students—will take place from 6:15 to 7:15 p.m. U.S. citizens and permanent residents can attend the second seminar from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

All students and spouses are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

◆ Wednesday, March 5
Labyrinth Walk

Scheide Hall, Gambrell Room 8:30 a.m–8:30 p.m.

The Seminary community is invited to walk PTS's new labyrinth. The canvas 24-foot, seven-circuit labyrinth was given to the Seminary by the 2002 graduating class and made by Veriditas: The Worldwide Labyrinth Project based at Grace Cathedral in San Francisco. PTS alumna Lauren Artress serves as a canon at Grace Cathedral and founded Veriditas. This will only be the second time the labyrinth has been used.

The labyrinth has recently been rediscovered around the world and at PTS as an ancient spiritual tradition in the Christian church. It provides an opportunity for creative and spiritual prayer, meditation, and illumination on one's spiritual journey.

◆ Wednesday, March 5
Women's Ordination Conference (WOC) Presentation

Main Lounge 12:30–1:30 p.m.

The Women's Center invites the PTS community to a presentation by the WOC of the Roman Catholic Church. The topic is "Women in the Roman Catholic Church."

The speaker, Eileen McCafferty DiFranco, a "cradle" Catholic, is a school nurse with the school district of Philadelphia and currently enrolled in the M.Div. program at Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia. She graduated from Immaculata College with a B.A. in English and later attended nursing school and graduated from Chestnut Hill Hospital

School of Nursing. She also holds an M.A. in health education from Arcadia University. She is a member of the core committee of the Southeastern Pennsylvania Women's Ordination Conference.

The WOC works for the ordination of women as priests and bishops into a renewed priestly ministry in the Roman Catholic church. To this end WOC:

- Works for justice and equality for women in our church;
- Strives to eliminate all forms of domination and discrimination in the Catholic church;
- Advocates inclusive church structures;
- Supports and affirms women's talents, gifts, and calls to ministry.

The WOC is a U.S.-based Catholic organization working locally and nationally in collaboration with the worldwide movement for women's ordination.

"On Becoming a More Redemptive Community: Moving beyond Asian American to Multi-Asian/Multiethnic Churches"

Miller Chapel (Wednesday) 7:00 p.m.
Main Lounge (Thursday) 12:30 p.m.

Please join the Asian Association at PTS (AAPTS) and the Asian American Program for this exciting event.

The Reverend Dr. Ken Uyeda Fong, senior pastor of Evergreen Baptist Church in Los Angeles, California, will lecture on multi-Asian/multiethnic ministry on Wednesday evening. He will also lead the lunchtime forum on Thursday afternoon.

Fong is a consultant to both racially diverse and Asian American ministries. He is the author of Pursuing the Pearl: A Comprehensive Resource for Multi-Asian Ministry. He was the main Bible expositor for the Urbana 2000 Student Missions Conference, a ministry of InterVarsity Christian Fellowship, and has M.Div. and D.Min. degrees from Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, California.

Continuing Education Event—"Helping Busy Pastors Preach Better Sermons"

Erdman Hall
10:45 a.m. (Thursday) to 3:00 p.m. (Friday)

Cleophus LaRue, the Francis Landey Patton Associate Professor of Homiletics at PTS, and other ministers who preach frequently throughout the year, need some down time to pause and reflect on what they do and how they can do it more effectively. This workshop will provide focus to and substance for that reflection by having two seasoned pastors/scholars address some of the pressing concerns of the preaching ministry: how to keep fresh sermonic ideas coming; where to find illustrations and examples that make sermons vital and interesting; how to wed imagination to the exposition of Scripture; and how to structure a long-range preaching program that will provide breathing room for other pastoral responsibilities. Participants are encouraged to bring some of their sermons for review and critique during the seminar.

Joel Gregory, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Dallas, Texas, and Cleophus LaRue, PTS's Francis Landey Patton Associate Professor of Homiletics, will lead this event.

Continuing Education Event—"A Lenten Retreat: Following Jesus with the Ignatian Exercises"

Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

In preparing for Lent and Holy Week, participants will follow the gospel pattern of Jesus' incarnation, ministry, passion, and resurrection—the four themes of The Spiritual Exercises of Ignatius of Loyola. The day will include brief presentations, prayer with Scripture, small group reflection, silent times for prayer and meditation, and opportunities to meet with the leader. Familiarity with The Spiritual Exercises (any edition) will be helpful, but not required. A prayer exercise for evening and morning will be included in the packet received on registration, and participants may meet briefly with the leader for individual consultation, if desired.

Kent Ira Groff, director of Oasis Ministries for Spiritual Development in Camp Hill, Pennsylvania, will lead this event.

Upcoming ❖ Events

◆ Monday, March 10
Continuing Education Event—"Our Interfaith Neighbors: World Religions in America, Nationally and Locally"
Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.
This seminar will explore the changing face of American religion across the country and especially in the greater Princeton area, mainly in relation to Hinduism and Islam. Participants will learn about several of the mosques and temples in the area and about the communities that worship in them. The challenges of interfaith ministry will be confronted with a case-study approach, from which it is hoped that a "neighborhood" theology conducive to Christian witness and interreligous dialogue will emerge.

Richard Fox Young, the Elmer K. and Ethel R. Timby Associate Professor of the History of Religions at PTS, will lead this event.

For further information, contact the Center of Continuing Education at the number listed below.

◆ Friday, March 14
Continuing Education Event—"Souls Are Made of Endurance: Surviving Mental Illness in the Family"
Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.
Through lecture, group discussion, and video excerpts, this event will inform participants about the onset and chronic character of major mental illness in a family. Innovative approaches for family members as they struggle to "find out" and cope while "holding on" in the face of cultural ignorance and stigma will be offered. Particular emphasis will be placed on ministry to and within this often-neglected area of human experience.

Stewart Govig, a faculty member in the Department of Religion at Pacific Lutheran University, will lead this event.

Second Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology Consultation—"Theology and Economic Life: Exploring Hidden Links"

Erdman Hall 8:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m.

PTS's Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology will hold its second consultation, titled "Theology and Economic Life: Exploring Hidden Links." The consultation will feature presentations by prominent experts in economics, ethics, and theology who will provide provocative assessments of economic life and the common good in the increasingly economically globalized twenty-first century. Participants include:

- Robert Nelson, University of Maryland; author, The Religion of Economics
- Orley Ashenfelter, Princeton University; editor, American Economic Review
- John Schneider, Calvin College; author, The Good of Affluence
- Elwin Beukes, King's University College; past South African regional director, World Bank
- Robert Wuthnow, Princeton University; author, Poor Richard's Principle
- Max Stackhouse, PTS faculty member; author, Is Capitalism Good for Poor People?

Respondents include PTS professors Peter Paris, professor of Christian social ethics and liaison to the Princeton University African American Studies Program; John Stewart, associate professor of ministry and evangelism; Mark Taylor, professor of theology and culture; and David Miller, a Ph.D. candidate and president of the Avodah Institute.

The morning session will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 12:00 p.m. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 5:00 p.m.

The Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology is named for Abraham Kuyper, a theologian, church leader, former prime minister of the Netherlands, and founder of the Free University of Amsterdam. Kuyper was committed to the conversation between Christian faith and public life. He delivered a series of lectures on Calvinism at Princeton Seminary in 1898.

The conference is free and open to the public. Advanced registration is required and must be made by Friday, March 7. Space is limited. To register for the conference, please contact Sharon Kozlowski at 609-688-1935. Lunch will not be provided except to board-plan students. Attendees are welcome to purchase their own lunch in the Seminary's cafeteria.

"Celebrating Men of Color" Conference

Mackay Campus Center 8:30 a.m.–5:30 p.m.

Suppose there were a conference to discuss the presence and face of racism? Suppose the conference were led by Latino and Black men and women representing the voices and experiences of the Latin American and African Diaspora? Suppose scholars and people of faith; educators and bus drivers; clergy and artists; physicians and students; mental health clinicians and migrant workers all assembled together in one place to form a community for empowerment and healing? Suppose you could be there?

This conference, the first of its kind, will bring together a uniquely diverse community of participants in a forum for empowerment and healing. Led by men and women representing the Latino and Black experience, it will offer the opportunity for meaningful dialogue and analysis. The conference includes moderators and facilitators from very different backgrounds and several universities, including Seton Hall, Princeton University, PTS, the University of Pennsylvania, Drew University, The College of New Jersey, Montclair State University, and New Jersey City University.

There are seminars, town meeting-style panel discussions, vendors, an art exhibit and an ethnic cuisine luncheon. There is even a special seminar for youth. Unlike the typical conference where registrants listen to the experts and take notes—these bona fide experts have set aside traditional formats in order to create active and meaningful dialogue among participants.

Black males, Hispanic males, males of all ages; women, teens, professionals, community people—everyone is welcome to register and be part of this important event.

The conference begins with 8:30 a.m. registration in the Mackay auditorium and ends with a 4:30 p.m. "100 Positive Men of Color" awards ceremony. The pictures, biographies, writings, and artwork of these 100 Black and Latino men will be on exhibit throughout the day. The "100 Positive Men of Color" project was created by Dr. Melinda Contreras-Byrd, a PTS alumna and president of The Generations Institute for Wellness and Healing (GIWH), to challenge the negative stereotyping of Black and Latino men, by selecting and awarding 100 men nominated nationally as examples of positive role models.

GIWH is cosponsoring this conference with PTS's Association of Black Seminarians (ABS) and the Association of Latino/Hispanic American Seminarians (AL/HAS). GIWH is a professional organization of people of faith. It is a clinical research and continuing education organization staffed by professional researchers and clinicians trained in theology and the social sciences. It is committed to improving lives through the practice of psychologically sensitive theology and the use of psycho-spiritual interventions in wellness and healing.

The cost of the conference is $75 for professionals and $45 for students. Advanced registration is required and must be made by Tuesday, March 18. For more information or to register for the conference, please call GIWH at the number listed below.

◆ The Testament

The Testament, a forum for creative expression in the PTS community, is now accepting submissions of prose, poetry, and visual art. For the first time ever, The Testament is also soliciting recordings of original music for a CD. This semester's theme for both writing and music is "Transgression." The deadline for submissions is Monday, March 31. Please direct all questions and submissions to the editors (Jeremy Funk, Jeannette Sorice, and Stephanie Sparacio) at testament@ptsem.edu.

◆ Housing and Auxiliary Services Announcements

Center for Children Public Pre-K Enrollment

The Dupree Center for Children is now accepting applications for summer 2003 and fall 2003–2004 from parents outside the Seminary community for the Pre-K class (four to five years old), Monday through Friday, full-day only.

The Pre-K class has never been full, and now, for financial reasons, the Seminary finds it necessary to open that class to the public to fill any available vacant slots. Priority will still be given to children of employees and students. New enrollments from the public will only be accepted after new and returning PTS enrollments are confirmed. Here is how the application process will work for those from the public:

- "Public" is defined as anyone who is not a child of an employee or a student, for example, a grandchild of an employee, or a neighbor.
- Applications for the summer and academic year will be accepted by the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services beginning Monday, June 2, which is after the deposit deadline date for new and returning enrollments for children of employees and students.
- The only class available for public children will be the Pre-K class, Monday through Friday, full-day. No exceptions.
- Tuition for the class will be at the market rate (to be determined).
- Slots will only be assigned if space is available.
- Deposit deadline will be within two weeks of assignment of slot.

Summer Housing 2003 and Dormitory Housing Information

Dormitory housing for summer 2003 (Monday, May 19 through Wednesday, September 10), will be very limited for students not attending classes. Brown Hall will be closed for the entire summer due to the installation of a sprinkler system. Hodge Hall will remain open for the entire summer. Alexander Hall will close on Monday, May 19 and reopen on Monday, July 14 for the start of summer language and remain open for the remainder of the summer. We will be reserving rooms for summer school and language students, leaving a very limited number of rooms available for those who will not be attending classes and wish to remain on campus over the summer.

Students not eligible for summer housing include graduating students and/or those who have completed full-time course work and students not working on campus.

Students eligible for summer housing include Ph.D. students (first through fourth year), students working on field education or CPE in the area, and those claiming PTS as their only residence.

If you are a returning student and will be enrolled in summer school or language, you will only be guaranteed a room for the period that the course is in session. Please note that all summer school classes begin after Monday, July 7.

Apartment Sublet Information

Those students who are interested in subletting their apartments to another student(s) during the summer months are asked to contact the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services to get information and guidelines concerning subletting. All sublets must be approved by the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services. Both lists of students who want to sublet apartments and lists of those who are interested in subleasing an apartment to another student(s) will be posted in the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services.

2003–2004 Academic Year Housing Applications

Housing applications for the 2003–2004 academic year have been sent to all residents. Please complete and return this form to the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services by Friday, March 28.

◆ Office of Academic Affairs Announcements

Seniors: Are you writing a senior thesis for course credit? If so, and if you have been in residence as a middler, you are invited to enter your thesis in competition for a Senior Class Fellowship for the pursuit of advanced study in Old Testament, New Testament, the Departments of History, Theology, and Practical Theology, or the Program in Religion and Society. Each fellowship carries an honorarium of $3,000. For instructions on submitting a thesis for a prize, please refer to pages 187–188 of the Seminary catalogue (see last paragraph of this announcement).

Please Note: The copy submitted should be "clean," with no evaluative markings from the professor and no grade. It should indicate, however, the professor for whom it was submitted so that others can be appointed to review it for the award.

Important! Please send a letter to the Office of Academic Affairs, 126 Administration Building, no later than Monday, March 31 of your intention to enter a thesis and the area in which it is to be considered. A copy of the thesis must be turned in to the Office of Academic Affairs by 12:00 p.m. on the last day of classes, Friday, April 25. Please refer to the current issue of the Seminary catalogue (pages 188–190, and 197) for more information.

Senior and Middler Prizes

The Seminary annually awards two Robert L. Maitland Prizes of $1,000 each: one for the best exegesis of a passage of the New Testament and one for the best essay on an assigned subject in English Bible. The assigned exegesis passage for 2002–2003 must be related to Christology. The English Bible topic for 2002–2003 is "Issues in Biblical Theology."

For instructions on submitting essays for the two available Robert L. Maitland Prizes, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology

A sum of $1,000 is awarded annually for the best essay on an assigned subject in biblical theology. The subject for 2002–2003 is "The Elusiveness of God."

For instructions on submitting essays for The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

PTS alumnus Obery Hendricks, immediate past-president of Payne Theological Seminary in Wilberforce, Ohio—the oldest African American seminary in the United States—will sign his first novel, titled Living Water (HarperSanFrancisco, 2003).

Living Water, inspired by the biblical story of the woman at the well and re-envisioned by Hendricks from an African American perspective, depicts a young woman's struggle to mute her passion for life in order to survive the strict social confines of her time. Catapulted into a series of abusive marriages, cast out and despised, she decides to define herself beyond men's desires and society's expectations—and brings redemption and healing to herself and her people.

Hendricks is presently on a national book tour. He is also a visiting scholar at PTS for the 2002–2003 academic year.

For more information about the book signing, please contact Barnes & Noble at 897-9250.

"To Heal the Body, Mind, and Soul: Dr. Matilda A. Evans of South Carolina, 1870–1935"

Princeton University, McCosh 28 4:30 p.m.

Darlene Clark Hine, the John A. Hannah Professor of History at Michigan State University, will deliver a lecture titled "To Heal the Body, Mind, and Soul: Dr. Matilda A. Evans of South Carolina, 1870–1935," at Princeton University.

The lecture explores the relationship of black women in the medical profession to the black church and the rise of healthcare activism in the decades prior to the civil rights movement of the 1950s and 1960s. It is sponsored by the Center for the Study of Religion and is a component of the Women and

Religion in the African Diaspora project, funded by the Ford Foundation.

After receiving her medical degree at the Women's Medical College in Philadelphia, Evans practiced medicine for three decades in Columbia, South Carolina, specializing in the fields of surgery, obstetrics and gynecology. She devoted her career to mobilizing community and religious leaders to fight to make healthcare a civil right. A member of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Evans established two hospitals and a nursing training school, founded the Good Health Association of South Carolina, edited The Negro Health Journal and served a term as president of the Palmetto Medical Association. In 1931, she persuaded the South Carolina state health board to provide free vaccines to black children at a clinic housed in the Zion Baptist Church.

Hine has edited and written widely on African American history, particularly black women. The author and editor of more than 20 books, she most recently coedited The Harvard Guide to African-American History (2001). She has been a fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences (2000–2001) and at the National Humanities Center (1986–1987). She is currently the president of the Southern Historical Association.

"Crossing Over Jordan"—African Americans and Care at the End of Life

Temple University, Mitten Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

"Crossing Over Jordan," a symposium presented by the Duke Institute on Care at the End of LIfe, and Vitas Healthcare Corporation, will take place on Tuesday, March 11 at Temple University in Philadelphia.

This event is both a celebration of the African American community's rich cultural traditions surrounding death and dying and an examination of the challenges it faces in improving care at the end of life.

The conference features local and national speakers from fields as diverse as medicine, the humanities, and theology, including:

- Dr. Richard Payne
- Dr. Karla F.C. Holloway
- Bishop Simon Gordon
- The Reverend Dr. Steven Avinger Sr.

Questions to be raised at the symposium include:

- Do African Americans view death and dying differently from other groups?
- How does race affect decisions about care at the end of life?
- What can others learn from the African American community's rich heritage surrounding death and dying?
- Why are African Americans less likely to use palliative and hospice care, even when such care is accessible?
- What can physicians and other caregivers do to provide culturally sensitive care to the dying?

The all-day registration fee is $45. Online registration is taking place now at www.iceol.duke.edu.

This Week's ❖ Events

◆ Monday, March 10

Continuing Education Event—"Our Interfaith Neighbors: World Religions in America, Nationally and Locally"

Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

This seminar will explore the changing face of American religion across the country and especially in the greater Princeton area, mainly in relation to Hinduism and Islam. Participants will learn about several of the mosques and temples in the area and about the communities that worship in them. The challenges of interfaith ministry will be confronted with a case-study approach, from which it is hoped that a "neighborhood" theology conducive to Christian witness and interreligous dialogue will emerge.

Richard Fox Young, the Elmer K. and Ethel R. Timby Associate Professor of the History of Religions at PTS, will lead this event.

For further information, contact the Center of Continuing Education at the number listed below.

◆ Friday, March 14

Continuing Education Event—"Souls Are Made of Endurance: Surviving Mental Illness in the Family"

Erdman Hall 9:30 a.m.–3:30 p.m.

Through lecture, group discussion, and video excerpts, this event will inform participants about the onset and chronic character of major mental illness in a family. Innovative approaches for family members as they struggle to "find out" and cope while "holding on" in the face of cultural ignorance and stigma will be offered. Particular emphasis will be placed on ministry to and within this often-neglected area of human experience.

Stewart Govig, a faculty member in the Department of Religion at Pacific Lutheran University, will lead this event.

Continuing Education Event—
"Understanding Your Community of Faith"
Session One (Monday, March 20): "Congregational Systems and Their Interpersonal Realities"
Session Two (Monday, March 27): "Living the Faith in Congregations"
Erdman Hall 7:15–9:30 p.m.

Conflicts are part of any faith community. So how can these inevitable tensions become opportunities for a congregation to develop spiritual maturity? This two-evening course will help participants understand the dynamics of relationships in a congregation—specifically in times of conflict and conflict resolution.

Peter J. Bridge, clinical director of the Samaritan Counseling Center in Morrisville, Pennsylvania, will lead this event.

Second Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology Consultation—"Theology and Economic Life: Exploring Hidden Links"
Erdman Hall 8:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m.

PTS's Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology will hold its second consultation, titled "Theology and Economic Life: Exploring Hidden Links." The consultation will feature presentations by prominent experts in economics, ethics, and theology who will provide provocative assessments of economic life and the common good in the increasingly economically globalized twenty-first century. Participants include:

- Robert Nelson, University of Maryland; author, The Religion of Economics

- Orley Ashenfelter, Princeton University; editor, American Economic Review
- John Schneider, Calvin College; author, The Good of Affluence
- Elwin Beukes, King's University College; past South African regional director, World Bank
- Robert Wuthnow, Princeton University; author, Poor Richard's Principle
- Max Stackhouse, PTS faculty member; author, Is Capitalism Good for Poor People?

Respondents include PTS professors Peter Paris, professor of Christian social ethics and liaison to the Princeton University African American Studies Program; John Stewart, associate professor of ministry and evangelism; Mark Taylor, professor of theology and culture; and David Miller, a Ph.D. candidate and president of the Avodah Institute.

The morning session will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 12:00 p.m. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 5:00 p.m.

The Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology is named for Abraham Kuyper, a theologian, church leader, former prime minister of the Netherlands, and founder of the Free University of Amsterdam. Kuyper was committed to the conversation between Christian faith and public life. He delivered a series of lectures at Princeton Seminary in 1898 on Calvinism.

The conference is free and open to the public. Space is limited. To register for the conference, please contact Sharon Kozlowski at 609-688-1935. Lunch will not be provided except to board-plan students. Attendees are welcome to purchase their own lunch in the Seminary's cafeteria.

"Celebrating Men of Color" Conference
Mackay Campus Center 8:30 a.m.–5:30 p.m.

Suppose there were a conference to discuss the presence and face of racism? Suppose the conference were led by Latino and Black men and women representing the voices and experiences of the Latin American and African Diaspora? Suppose scholars and people of faith; educators and bus drivers; clergy and artists; physicians and students; mental health clinicians and migrant workers all assembled together in one place to form a community for empowerment and healing? Suppose you could be there?

This conference, the first of its kind, will bring together a uniquely diverse community of participants in a forum for empowerment and healing. Led by men and women representing the Latino and Black experience, it will offer the opportunity for meaningful dialogue and analysis. The conference includes moderators and facilitators from very different backgrounds and several universities, including Seton Hall, Princeton University, PTS, the University of Pennsylvania, Drew University, The College of New Jersey, Montclair State University, and New Jersey City University.

There are seminars, town meeting-style panel discussions, vendors, an art exhibit and an ethnic cuisine luncheon. There is even a special seminar for youth. Unlike the typical conference where registrants listen to the experts and take notes—these bona fide experts have set aside traditional formats in order to create active and meaningful dialogue among participants.

Black males, Hispanic males, males of all ages; women, teens, professionals, community people—everyone is welcome to register and be part of this important event.

The conference begins with 8:30 a.m. registration in the Mackay Auditorium and ends with a 4:30 p.m. "100 Positive Men of Color" awards ceremony. The pictures, biographies, writings, and artwork of these 100 Black and Latino men will be on exhibit throughout the day. The "100 Positive Men of Color" project was created by Dr. Melinda Contreras-Byrd, a PTS alumna and president of The Generations Institute for Wellness and Healing (GIWH), to challenge the negative stereotyping of Black and Latino men, by selecting and awarding 100 men nominated nationally as examples of positive role models.

GIWH is cosponsoring this conference with PTS's Association of Black Seminarians (ABS) and the Association of Latino/Hispanic American Seminarians (AL/HAS). GIWH is a professional organization of people of faith. It is a clinical research and continuing education organization staffed by professional researchers and clinicians trained in theology and the social sciences. It is committed to improving lives through the practice of psychologically sensitive theology and the use of psycho-spiritual interventions in wellness and healing.

The cost of the conference is $75 for professionals and $45 for students. Advanced registration is required and must be made by Tuesday, March 18. For more information or to register for the conference, please call GIWH at the number listed below.

Erdman Gallery Art Exhibit by Ann Stewart Anderson—"Mythic Women: Helen and Clytemnestra"

Erdman Hall

Ann Stewart Anderson is a native of Louisville, Kentucky, and a graduate of Wellesley College and American University. She has studied at the Corcoran College of Art and Design in Washington, D.C., and brings an avid interest in contemporary women and mythic stories to her painting and sculpture. She writes, "In depicting woman, I strive to explore visually the richness of her roles and the variety of her stories; but these paintings are not only about subject. They are also about the intricacies of pattern, the juxtaposition of color, and the contrasts of light and shade, figure and gesture. They are essential statements about the vicissitudes of human life." Gallery hours are:

Monday–Saturday	8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Sunday	2:30 to 6:30 p.m.

A gallery talk and reception for the artist will be held Monday, March 24 at 4:30 p.m. in the Erdman Art Gallery.

◆ Housing and Auxiliary Services Announcements

Summer Housing 2003 and Dormitory Housing Information

Dormitory housing for summer 2003 (Monday, May 19 through Wednesday, September 10), will be very limited for students not attending classes. Brown Hall will be closed for the entire summer due to the installation of a sprinkler system. Hodge Hall will remain open for the entire summer. Alexander Hall will close on Monday, May 19 and reopen on Monday, July 14 for the start of summer language and remain open for the remainder of the summer. We will reserve rooms for summer school and language students, leaving a very limited number of rooms available for those who will not be attending classes and wish to remain on campus over the summer.

Students not eligible for summer housing include graduating students and/or those who have completed full-time course work, and students not working on campus.

Students eligible for summer housing include Ph.D. students (first through fourth year), students working in field education or CPE in the area, and those claiming PTS as their only residence.

If you are a returning student and will be enrolled in summer school or language, you will only be guaranteed a room for the period that the course is in session. Please note that all summer school classes begin after Monday, July 7.

Apartment Sublet Information

Students who are interested in subletting their apartments to another student(s) during the summer months are asked to contact the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services for information and guidelines concerning subletting. All sublets must be approved by the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services. Both lists of students who want to sublet apartments and lists of those who are interested in subleasing an apartment to another student(s) will be posted in the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services.

2003–2004 Academic Year Housing Applications

Housing applications for the 2003–2004 academic year have been sent to all residents. Please complete and return this form to the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services by Friday, March 28.

◆ New Prize Announcement

The Matthew Anderson, Jonathan C. Gibbs, John B. Reeve Prize, established in 2001 by the Reverend William Eichelberger, PTS Class of 1962, is offered annually to the student who has written the best essay or research paper on the life and work of one or two African American or Native American clergy or lay people who have made significant contributions to the mission of the Presbyterian Church (USA). Students in all degree programs are invited to compete for the prize of $500, which will be awarded upon recommendation of the faculty. Papers may have been presented in class. Clean copies, without evaluative comments or grades, should be submitted by Thursday, April 17 to the Academic Affairs Office in the Administration Building.

Contact: Betty Angelucci
Phone: 497-7815

◆ Office of Academic Affairs Announcements

Seniors: Are you writing a senior thesis for course credit? If so, and if you have been in residence as a middler, you are invited to enter your thesis in competition for a Senior Class Fellowship for the pursuit of advanced study in Old Testament, New Testament, the Departments of History, Theology, and Practical Theology, or the Program in Religion and Society. Each fellowship carries an honorarium of $3,000. For instructions on submitting a thesis for a prize, please refer to pages 187–188 of the Seminary catalogue (see last paragraph of this announcement).

Please Note: The copy submitted should be "clean," with no evaluative markings from the professor and no grade. It should indicate, however, the professor for whom it was submitted so that others can be appointed to review it for the award.

Important! Please send a letter to the Office of Academic Affairs, 126 Administration Building, no later than Monday, March 31 of your intention to enter a thesis and the area in which it is to be considered. A copy of the thesis must be turned in to the Office of Academic Affairs by 12:00 p.m. on the last day of classes, Friday, April 25. Please refer to the current issue of the Seminary catalogue (pages 188–190, and 197) for more information.

Senior and Middler Prizes

The Seminary annually awards two Robert L. Maitland Prizes of $1,000 each: one for the best exegesis of a passage of the New Testament and one for the best essay on an assigned subject in English Bible. The assigned exegesis passage for 2002–2003 must be related to Christology. The

English Bible topic for 2002–2003 is "Issues in Biblical Theology."

For instructions on submitting essays for the two available Robert L. Maitland Prizes, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology
A sum of $1,000 is awarded annually for the best essay on an assigned subject in biblical theology. The subject for 2002–2003 is "The Elusiveness of God."

◆ Saturday, March 22
Second Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology Consultation—"Theology and Economic Life: Exploring Hidden Links"
Erdman Hall 8:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m.
PTS's Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology will hold its second consultation, titled "Theology and Economic Life: Exploring Hidden Links." The consultation will feature presentations by prominent experts in economics, ethics, and theology who will provide provocative assessments of economic life and the common good in the increasingly economically globalized twenty-first century. Participants include:

- Robert Nelson, University of Maryland; author, The Religion of Economics
- Orley Ashenfelter, Princeton University; editor, American Economic Review
- John Schneider, Calvin College; author, The Good of Affluence
- Elwin Beukes, King's University College; past South African regional director, World Bank
- Robert Wuthnow, Princeton University; author, Poor Richard's Principle
- Max Stackhouse, PTS faculty member; author, Is Capitalism Good for Poor People?

Respondents include PTS professors Peter Paris, professor of Christian social ethics and liaison to the Princeton University African American Studies Program; John Stewart, associate professor of ministry and evangelism; Mark Taylor, professor of theology and culture; and David Miller, a Ph.D. candidate and president of the Avodah Institute.
The morning session will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 12:00 p.m. The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 5:00 p.m.
The Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology is named for Abraham Kuyper, a theologian, church leader, former prime minister of the Netherlands, and founder of the Free University of Amsterdam. Kuyper was committed to the conversation between Christian faith and public life. He delivered a series of lectures at Princeton Seminary in 1898 on Calvinism.
The conference is free and open to the public. Space is limited. To register for the conference, please contact Sharon Kozlowski at 609-688-1935. Lunch will not be provided except to board-plan students. Attendees are welcome to purchase their own lunch in the Seminary's cafeteria.

"Celebrating Men of Color" Conference
Mackay Campus Center 8:30 a.m.–5:30 p.m.
Suppose there were a conference to discuss the presence and face of racism? Suppose the conference were led by Latino and Black men and women representing the voices and experiences of the Latin American and African Diaspora? Suppose scholars and people of faith; educators and bus drivers; clergy and artists; physicians and students; mental health clinicians and migrant workers all assembled together in one place to form a community for empowerment and healing? Suppose you could be there?

This conference, the first of its kind, will bring together a uniquely diverse community of participants in a forum for empowerment and healing. Led by men and women representing the Latino and Black experience, it will offer the opportunity for meaningful dialogue and analysis. The conference includes moderators and facilitators from very different backgrounds and several universities, including Seton Hall, Princeton University, PTS, the University of Pennsylvania, Drew University, The College of New Jersey, Montclair State University, and New Jersey City University.

There are seminars, town meeting-style panel discussions, vendors, an art exhibit and an ethnic cuisine luncheon. There is even a special seminar for youth. Unlike the typical conference where registrants listen to the experts and take notes—these bona fide experts have set aside traditional formats in order to create active and meaningful dialogue among participants.

Black males, Hispanic males, males of all ages; women, teens, professionals, community people—everyone is welcome to register and be part of this important event.

The conference begins with 8:30 a.m. registration in the Mackay Auditorium and ends with a 4:30 p.m. "100 Positive Men of Color" awards ceremony. The pictures, biographies, writings, and artwork of these 100 Black and Latino men will be on exhibit throughout the day. The "100 Positive Men of Color" project was created by Dr. Melinda Contreras-Byrd, a PTS alumna and president of The Generations Institute for Wellness and Healing (GIWH), to challenge the negative stereotyping of Black and Latino men, by selecting and awarding 100 men nominated nationally as examples of positive role models.

GIWH is cosponsoring this conference with PTS's Association of Black Seminarians (ABS) and the Association of Latino/Hispanic American Seminarians (AL/HAS). GIWH is a professional organization of people of faith. It is a clinical research and continuing education organization staffed by professional researchers and clinicians trained in theology and the social sciences. It is committed to improving lives through the practice of psychologically sensitive theology and the use of psycho-spiritual interventions in wellness and healing.

The cost of the conference is $75 for professionals and $45 for students. Advanced registration is required and must be made by Tuesday, March 18. For more information or to register for the conference, please call GIWH at the number listed below.

Erdman Gallery Art Exhibit by Ann Stewart Anderson—"Mythic Women: Helen and Clytemnestra"

Erdman Hall

Ann Stewart Anderson is a native of Louisville, Kentucky, and a graduate of Wellesley College and American University. She has studied at the Corcoran College of Art and Design in Washington, D.C., and brings an avid interest in contemporary women and mythic stories to her painting and sculpture. She writes, "In depicting woman, I strive to explore visually the richness of her roles and the variety of her stories; but these paintings are not only about subject. They are also about the intricacies of pattern, the juxtaposition of color, and the contrasts of light and shade, figure and gesture. They are essential statements about the vicissitudes of human life." Gallery hours are:

Monday–Saturday	8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Sunday	2:30 to 6:30 p.m.

A gallery talk and reception for the artist will be held Monday, March 24 at 4:30 p.m. in the Erdman Art Gallery.

◆ Monday, March 24 to Tuesday, March 25

Continuing Education Event—"Urban/Suburban Partnerships and Coalitions"

Erdman Hall

10:45 a.m. (Monday) to 3:00 p.m. (Tuesday)

This event offers participants a forum (1) to place urban mission within their own congregational context, wherever they may be; and (2) to reflect on what it really means to love unselfishly, i.e. to learn how to find out who someone is, what they do, what they experience, and what they believe that they need. Strategies reliant on urban/suburban partnerships and coalitions will be explored to enable the establishment of working relationships across cultural and geographical divides between congregations who share a commitment to "making a difference" in urban communities.

John Mason, cochair of an active mission program at Wayne Presbyterian Church in Wayne, Pennsylvania, will lead this event.

Lunchtime Forum—"Understanding Depression"
Main Lounge 12:45 p.m.

The Wholistic Health Initiative presents a lunchtime forum about understanding depression with Dr. Marvin Leifer. Depression touches all of us in some way—either in our own lives, in our network of family and friends, or in ministry and work settings.

Leifer is a seasoned psychiatrist who has seen a number of PTS students over the years. He is on the staff at Trinity Counseling Center and regularly receives referrals from the McCosh Counseling Center at Princeton University and from the PTS director of student counseling.

In the '90s Leifer served as director and chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at Helene Fuld Medical Center in Trenton, New Jersey, and was the medical director for the Addiction Recovery Services of the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey Community Mental Health Center in Piscataway. All are welcome. Feel free to bring your lunch and your questions.

Thriving in Ministry Event—"Leading Your Church in Small Group Ministries"
Erdman Hall 2:00–5:30 p.m.
Cooper Conference Room

The last event in this year's Thriving in Ministry program, will be led by the Reverend Dr. Virginia B. Smith, pastor of Hopewell Presbyterian Church in Hopewell, New Jersey.

Small groups have been cited as an effective way to assimilate new members into the life of the church and to care for the flock. This workshop will focus on strategies for forming and leading small groups.

Prior to coming to Hopewell, Smith served as Mohr Professor of Ministry at McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago and is now an adjunct faculty member in the Doctor of Ministry program at that institution. During 20 years of ordained ministry she has had particular interest in developing small group ministries in the churches she has served; she wrote her D.Min. thesis on "Developing Healthy Relationships in the Church through Small Group Ministry."

Everyone is welcome to attend this event; no registration is necessary.

◆ Office of Academic Affairs Announcements

Seniors: Are you writing a senior thesis for course credit? If so, and if you have been in residence as a middler, you are invited to enter your thesis in competition for a Senior Class Fellowship for the pursuit of advanced study in Old Testament, New Testament, the Departments of History, Theology, and Practical Theology, or the Program in Religion and Society. Each fellowship carries an honorarium of $3,000. For instructions on submitting a thesis for a prize, please refer to pages 187–188 of the Seminary catalogue (see last paragraph of this announcement).

Please Note: The copy submitted should be "clean," with no evaluative markings from the professor and no grade. It should indicate, however, the professor for whom it was submitted so that others can be appointed to review it for the award.

Important! Please send a letter to the Office of Academic Affairs, 126 Administration Building, no later than Monday, March 31 of your intention to enter a thesis and the area in which it is to be considered. A copy of the thesis must be turned in to the Office of Academic Affairs by 12:00 p.m. on the last day of classes, Friday, April 25. Please refer to the current issue of the Seminary catalogue (pages 188–190, and 197) for more information.

Senior and Middler Prizes

The Seminary annually awards two Robert L. Maitland Prizes of $1,000 each: one for the best exegesis of a passage of the New Testament and one for the best essay on an assigned subject in English Bible. The assigned exegesis passage for 2002–2003 must be related to Christology. The English Bible topic for 2002–2003 is "Issues in Biblical Theology."

For instructions on submitting essays for the two available Robert L. Maitland Prizes, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology

A sum of $1,000 is awarded annually for the best essay on an assigned subject in biblical theology. The subject for 2002–2003 is "The Elusiveness of God."

For instructions on submitting essays for The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

New Prize Announcement

The Matthew Anderson, Jonathan C. Gibbs, John B. Reeve Prize, established in 2001 by the Reverend William Eichelberger, PTS Class of 1962, is offered annually to the student who has written the best essay or research paper on the life and work of one or two African American or Native American clergy or lay people who have made significant contributions to the mission of the Presbyterian Church (USA). Students in all degree programs are invited to compete for the prize of $500, which will be awarded upon recommendation of the faculty. Papers may have been presented in class. Clean copies, without evaluative comments or grades, should be submitted by Thursday, April 17 to the Academic Affairs Office in the Administration Building.

Concert at the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck

First Presbyterian Church of 7:00 p.m.
Dutch Neck, 154 South Mill Road,
Princeton Junction, New Jersey

Dr. Tomas Novotny is a theologian and professor at Charles University in Prague and Ostrava University, both in the Czech Republic. In 1997, Novotny got the idea of teaching Hebrew through songs and consequently created a system which utilizes Hebrew songs to teach different parts of the language. Not only was the new class fun and effective at teaching Hebrew, it also took an unexpected turn. Some people in the local community heard the group's singing and the students started getting invitations to sing for conferences, special events, university meetings, Jewish community functions and more. The class of students, eager to learn Hebrew, has evolved into a professional singing group, which performs regularly in the Czech Republic. The group now known as ADASH produced two CDs, one by a prestigious recording company in Prague.

The group's name ADASH is an acronym for the Hebrew words Ivrit Derech Shirim. There are 19 girls in the group. The singing group is scheduled to perform in New Jersey, Washington, D.C., and Maryland between Wednesday, March 26 and Monday, April 7. They will be giving a concert at the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck on Friday, March 28. The concert is free, however, donations are encouraged to help with their traveling costs. For more information, please contact Gail H. Lee at 609-918-1204.

Erdman Gallery Art Exhibit by Ann Stewart Anderson—"Mythic Women: Helen and Clytemnestra"

Erdman Hall

Ann Stewart Anderson is a native of Louisville, Kentucky, and a graduate of Wellesley College and American University. She has studied at the Corcoran College of Art and Design in Washington, D.C., and brings an avid interest in contemporary women and mythic stories to her painting and sculpture. She writes, "In depicting woman, I strive to explore visually the richness of her roles and the variety of her stories; but these paintings are not only about subject. They are also about the intricacies of pattern, the juxtaposition of color, and the contrasts of light and shade, figure and gesture. They are essential statements about the vicissitudes of human life." Gallery hours are:

Monday–Saturday	8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Sunday	2:30 to 6:30 p.m.

◆ Monday, March 24 to Tuesday, March 25

Continuing Education Event—"Urban/Suburban Partnerships and Coalitions"

Erdman Hall

10:45 a.m. (Monday) to 3:00 p.m. (Tuesday)

This event offers participants a forum (1) to place urban mission within their own congregational context, wherever they may be; and (2) to reflect on what it really means to love unselfishly, for example, to learn how to find out who someone is, what they do, what they experience, and what they believe that they need. Strategies reliant on urban/suburban partnerships and coalitions will be explored to enable the establishment of working relationships across cultural and geographical divides between congregations who share a commitment to "making a difference" in urban communities.

John Mason, cochair of an active mission program at Wayne Presbyterian Church in Wayne, Pennsylvania, will lead this event.

Lunchtime Forum—"Understanding Depression"

Main Lounge 12:45 p.m.

The Wholistic Health Initiative presents a lunchtime forum about understanding depression with Dr. Marvin Leifer. Depression touches all of us in some way—either in our own lives, in our network of family and friends, or in ministry and work settings.

Leifer is a seasoned psychiatrist who has seen a number of PTS students over the years. He is on the staff at Trinity Counseling Center and regularly receives referrals from the McCosh Counseling Center at Princeton University and from the PTS director of student counseling.

In the '90s Leifer served as director and chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at Helene Fuld Medical Center in Trenton, New Jersey, and was the medical director for the Addiction Recovery Services of the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey Community Mental Health Center in

Thriving in Ministry Event—"Leading Your Church in Small Group Ministries"

Erdman Hall 2:00–5:30 p.m.
Cooper Conference Room

The last event in this year's Thriving in Ministry program will be led by the Reverend Dr. Virginia B. Smith, pastor of Hopewell Presbyterian Church in Hopewell, New Jersey.

Small groups have been cited as an effective way to assimilate new members into the life of the church and to care for the flock. This workshop will focus on strategies for forming and leading small groups.

Prior to coming to Hopewell, Smith served as Mohr Professor of Ministry at McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago and is now an adjunct faculty member in the Doctor of Ministry program at that institution. During 20 years of ordained ministry she has had particular interest in developing small group ministries in the churches she has served; she wrote her D.Min. thesis on "Developing Healthy Relationships in the Church through Small Group Ministry."

Everyone is welcome to attend this event; no registration is necessary.

◆ Office of Academic Affairs Announcements

Seniors: Are you writing a senior thesis for course credit? If so, and if you have been in residence as a middler, you are invited to enter your thesis in competition for a Senior Class Fellowship for the pursuit of advanced study in Old Testament, New Testament, the Departments of History, Theology, and Practical Theology, or the Program in Religion and Society. Each fellowship carries an honorarium of $3,000. For instructions on submitting a thesis for a prize, please refer to pages 187–188 of the Seminary catalogue (see last paragraph of this announcement).

Please Note: The copy submitted should be "clean," with no evaluative markings from the professor and no grade. It should indicate, however, the professor for whom it was submitted so that others can be appointed to review it for the award.

Important! Please send a letter to the Office of Academic Affairs, 126 Administration Building, no later than Monday, March 31 of your intention to enter a thesis and the area in which it is to be considered. A copy of the thesis must be turned in to the Office of Academic Affairs by 12:00 p.m. on the last day of classes, Friday, April 25. Please refer to the current issue of the Seminary catalogue (pages 188–190, and 197) for more information.

Senior and Middler Prizes

The Seminary annually awards two Robert L. Maitland Prizes of $1,000 each: one for the best exegesis of a passage of the New Testament and one for the best essay on an assigned subject in English Bible. The assigned exegesis passage for 2002–2003 must be related to Christology. The English Bible topic for 2002–2003 is "Issues in Biblical Theology."

For instructions on submitting essays for the two available Robert L. Maitland Prizes, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology

A sum of $1,000 is awarded annually for the best essay on an assigned subject in biblical theology. The subject for 2002–2003 is "The Elusiveness of God."

For instructions on submitting essays for The John Finley McLaren Prize in Biblical Theology, please refer to the heading "Prizes and Special Awards" on page 190 of the Seminary catalogue.

Concert at the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck

First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck, 154 South Mill Road, Princeton Junction, New Jersey — 7:00 p.m.

Dr. Tomas Novotny is a theologian and professor at Charles University in Prague and Ostrava University, both in the Czech Republic. In 1997, Novotny got the idea of teaching Hebrew through songs and consequently created a system which utilizes Hebrew songs to teach different parts of the language. Not only was the new class fun and effective at teaching Hebrew, it also took an unexpected turn. Some people in the local community heard the group's singing and the students started getting invitations to sing for conferences, special events, university meetings, Jewish community functions and more. The class of students, eager to learn Hebrew, has evolved into a professional singing group, which performs regularly in the Czech Republic. The group now known as ADASH produced two CDs, one by a prestigious recording company in Prague.

The group's name ADASH is an acronym for the Hebrew words Ivrit Derech Shirim. There are 19 girls in the group. They will be giving a concert at the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck on Friday, March 28. The concert is free, however, donations are encouraged to help with their traveling costs. For more information, please contact Gail H. Lee at 609-918-1204.

◆ Monday, March 31
This Obedience* Film and Discussion with Emily Eastwood
Stuart 6 7:00–9:30 p.m.
This Obedience is a film about one woman's battle with the third largest Christian denomination in the United States, the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA). Anita C. Hill is determined to become a pastor in spite of the church's rules against "non-celibate" gays and lesbians in the clergy. In an act of "ecclesiastical disobedience" a small Midwestern congregation ordains her. Hill's life is turned upside down as the Lutheran hierarchy rejects her ordination and her congregation. Interwoven with Hill's personal reflections, her close friend Emily Eastwood struggles with the church's power to reject her own "call" to ministry. By defying church rules, Hill emerges from relative anonymity to a national icon in the fight for spiritual equality. Given unprecedented access to Hill and the ELCA's National Assembly, This Obedience reveals the emotional epicenter of the debate over the ordination of gay clergy.

Emily Eastwood is executive director of the Reconciling in Christ Program of Lutherans Concerned/North America (RIC). She is a lifetime Lutheran, would-be pastor, organizer, and sometime stand up comedian. She and her partner of 15 years, Jan Bailey, are members of the first RIC congregation. In May 2002 Eastwood resigned her position as credit manager of a nationwide manufacturing company to accept this position in ministry. In September 2002 she returned to seminary.

Speech Communication in Ministry presents Our Town by Thornton Wilder

Mackay Auditorium 8:00 p.m.

"It's a little play with all the big subjects in it; and it's a big play with all the little things of life lovingly impressed into it."

—Letter from Thornton Wilder to Gertrude Stein, October 1937

This "little play," which had its premiere at McCarter Theater in 1938, has become a world classic. In it, an omniscient stage manager sets up and gently guides an average couple and their families through the difficult passages of life and death. The play is set specifically in New Hampshire in 1901, but the universality of its characters and their actions has rendered it popular in hundreds of languages throughout the world. Our Town spearheaded a twentieth century revolution against heavily realistic productions with a return to simplicity of presentation, with a reliance on the imagination of the audience. So, welcome, audience members, to the collaborative act of theater and exercise of imagination!

Thornton Wilder (1897–1975) taught at The Lawrenceville School in Lawrenceville, New Jersey, and wrote novels as well as plays. Among his major works are The Bridge of San Luis Rey, The Ides of March, The Skin of our Teeth, and The Matchmaker, which was later adapted to become the musical, Hello, Dolly!

Our Town, staged by Robert Lanchester, visiting lecturer in speech at PTS, is open to the public free of charge. For more information, contact Lois Haydu at the number listed below.

"Lectio Divina" Seminar

Miller Chapel, Vestry Room 4:30–5:30 p.m.

Sister Rita Weohlke, SSJ, will guide participants in a one-hour seminar on the "Lectio Divina," a meditative approach to the reading of a Scripture passage. It allows for the words of a text to move past our rational minds to our hearts and being. Sister Rita will select a passage of Scripture from the many moving texts connected to Holy Week.

Sister Rita leads one of the spiritual direction groups for PTS students. A spiritual director at the Vincentian Renewal Center in Plainsboro, New Jersey, she also has an M.A. in pastoral counseling.

◆ The Communications/Publications Office Needs Your Help!

Student or spouse needed to assist busy Communications/Publications Office starting mid-May. Eight to twelve hours a week (or more if time available); $8.25 per hour. Computer experience a must. Will primarily use a PC, but Macintosh experience a big plus. Duties include managing project files, compiling databases, handling newspaper clippings, word processing, filing, distributing posters, and various other projects. For more information, please stop by the Communications/Publications Office located at 301 Templeton Hall or call 497-7760.

◆ Facilities Announcement
Positions Available

The Facilities Office is looking for Seminary students and/or spouses to work on its staff from mid-May through Labor Day weekend. Positions are available in the following areas: grounds work (must wear steel-tipped boots), custodial/apartment preparation—West Windsor campus (must wear steel-tipped boots), and security base station phones.

The security phone position requires the ability to speak with a clear voice and excellent enunciation and communication skills in order to effectively communicate with the Seminary community and with security officers via radio. If you are interested in any of these positions, stop by the Facilities Office to fill out an application.

Spring Fertilizer Application

Weather permitting, the grounds staff will fertilize and apply weed and pest controls to the Main campus and the Tennent and West Windsor campuses at the beginning of April. Small yellow flags will be placed on all treated areas. Please keep children and pets safely away from the machinery during the application process. Residents should keep traffic on the lawns to a minimum for a few days following the application in order to allow the treatment to work.

◆ Volunteers Needed

Allies, Inc., of Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, and Hunterdon counties, is looking for volunteers to work with people with developmental disabilities. Summer internships are also available. For more information or to volunteer, contact Linda D'Agostino, community connector for Allies, Inc., at 609-509-0817.

◆ Housing and Auxiliary Services Announcements

Dormitory and Roberts/Tennent Hall Residents

If you find yourself locked out of your room or apartment during normal work hours, please try to locate the building custodian first. Do not call security unless the custodian cannot be located. This saves time and is often faster as security may be at another part of the campus unable to immediately come to your assistance.

Spring Blood Drive

PTS's annual spring blood drive will take place Monday, April 14 in the Main Lounge from 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Appointments can be made through the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services.

Room Draw

Room Draw will take place on Monday, April 28 at 2:00 p.m. in Stuart Hall, Room 1. Students who wish to change dormitory rooms for the fall term should plan to attend. A list of available rooms will be posted in the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services and in each dormitory on Thursday, April 24.

Summer Apartment Sublets

Students who wish to sublet their apartments for the summer are asked to stop by the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services for information regarding this procedure. A sign-up sheet will be posted for those students who want to sublet into and out of apartments. All sublets must be approved by the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services.

Housing Residents Assistant (HRA) Positions 2003/2004

Housing Residents Assistant (HRA) positions for the academic year 2003/2004 will be available for Alexander, Brown, and Hodge Halls, and CRW. If interested, please stop by the Office of Housing and Auxiliary Services, 203 Templeton Hall, to obtain an application and job description. A minimum requirement of one year of PTS housing and experience is preferred.

Contact: Rosemary Myer
Phone: 497-7730

◆ Notice to All Juniors

The mandatory students meeting that was scheduled for Wednesday, April 9, has been canceled. All students doing summer field education placements will be given the legal issues information with the summer course requirements. Instead, there will be a mandatory meeting on Wednesday, September 17 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m., for all students in field education placements in the summer 2003 or academic year 2003/2004. More information will be available in the fall. Please call the Office of Field Education at 497-7970 with any questions.

◆ Monday, April 14
Labyrinth Walk
Scheide Hall 8:30 a.m.–8:30 p.m.
Gambrell Room

The Wholistic Health Initiative invites the PTS community to begin Holy Week with a prayer walk on its new labyrinth. The canvas, 24-foot, seven-circuit labyrinth was given to the Seminary by the 2002 graduating class and made by Veriditas: The Worldwide Labyrinth Project based at Grace Cathedral in San Francisco. PTS alumna Lauren Artress serves as a canon at Grace Cathedral and founded Veriditas.

Written material will be on hand to enhance the experience for those new to this ancient Christian tradition. Walking a labyrinth provides an opportunity for prayer and meditation while in motion. Many walkers find that as they follow the winding pathways or rest at the labyrinth's center they receive some illumination or insight, and experience a renewed sense of peace or connection.

Princeton University Center for the Study of Religion Lecture—"Lincoln's God"

Princeton University 4:30 p.m.
Robertson Hall, Dodds Auditorium

Mark Noll, the McManis Professor of Christian Thought and professor of history at Wheaton College, will deliver a lecture titled "Lincoln's God" on the Princeton University campus.

The lecture cuts through the thickets of myth that surround Abraham Lincoln's religion to argue that, although Lincoln's beliefs changed during his life, some of his perspectives remained markedly constant. Noll offers a careful historical picture of key events and relationships in Lincoln's life that are central to understanding his religion. He also speculates on why the question of Lincoln's religion has been so perennially fascinating and contentious.

The lecture is the first in a three-year series offered by the Princeton University Center for the Study of Religion featuring speakers who combine strong interests in public affairs with rich understanding of theology, theological ethics, philosophy of religion, and religious history. Noll's lecture is sponsored by the Reynolds Trust.

Noll has written widely on the interaction of Christianity and culture in 18th- and 19th-century Anglo-American societies. The author and editor of more than 20 books, he most recently authored America's God, from Jonathan Edwards to Abraham Lincoln (Oxford University Press, 2002); The Old Religion in a New World: The History of North American Christianity (Eerdmans, 2002); and The Work We Have to Do: A History of Protestants in America (second edition, Oxford University Press, 2002).

Noll earned a bachelor of arts in English from Wheaton College, a master's in comparative literature from the University of Iowa, a master's in church history from the Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, and a Ph.D. in American religious history from Vanderbilt University. He has taught at Wheaton College since 1979.

◆ Thursday, May 1
Public Debate
Princeton University 12:15 p.m.
Whig Hall, Senate Chamber

PTS's Abraham Kuyper Center for Public Theology is cosponsoring, with the James Madison Program at Princeton University, a debate between professors Lawrence Mead of New York University and Mary Jo Bane of Harvard University. They are coauthors of a forthcoming book in the Brookings/Pew Forum Dialogue Series on Religion and Public Life titled Lifting Up the Poor—A Dialogue on Religion, Poverty, and Welfare Reform.

People who participate in debates about poverty—and its causes and cures—often speak from religious conviction. But those underlying commitments are rarely made explicit or debated on their own terms. And rarely are the public implications of religious commitments brought to bear on specific policy choices.

Bane and Mead, two of the nation's foremost scholars and policy advocates, bring their faith traditions, policy experience, academic expertise, and political commitments together in a moving, pointed, and informed discussion of one of our most vexing public issues.

Mary Jo Bane is professor of public policy and management at Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government. She served as cochair of President Clinton's Working Group on Welfare Reform and assistant secretary for children and families at the Department of Health and Human Services. Lawrence M. Mead is a professor of politics at New York University and has been a visiting fellow at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University and in the James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University.

This event is free and open to the public. Please contact Max Stackhouse, PTS's Stephen Colwell Professor of Christian Ethics, at max.stackhouse@ptsem.edu for more information.

◆ Monday, May 5 and Tuesday, May 6
Continuing Education Event—"The Awareness of God's Presence and the Shaping of Christian Community"
Erdman Hall
10:45 a.m. (Monday) to 3:30 p.m. (Tuesday)

Recent efforts to discern a congregation's spiritual life have challenged popular notions of spirituality as only an individual matter and led to interest in the corporate dimensions of spirituality, or a congregational spirituality. This event, designed for pastor/lay teams, will explore practices of the Christian faith and other factors contributing to the spiritual formation and life of the congregation. Sessions will involve plenary presentations, small group interaction, and opportunities to share experiences and resources.

Freda A. Gardner, PTS's professor of Christian education emerita and director of the School of Christian Education emerita, and Lisa M. Hess, director for pastoral and congregational renewal, will lead this event.

◆ Thursday, May 8 and Friday, May 9
Continuing Education Event—"Exploring Forgiveness and Reconciliation"
Erdman Hall
10:45 a.m. (Thursday) to 3:00 p.m. (Friday)

Christian faith is peculiarly marked by the imperative both to receive and to offer forgiveness. Some voices urge forgiveness as a Christian duty under all circumstances, while others argue adamantly that forgiveness can be inappropriate until certain conditions have been met. Some believe that forgiveness is the quickest route to healing for the offended, while others hold that personal therapy cannot be the essence of Christian forgiveness.

How do we sort through the competing claims for and varied interpretations of the character and role of forgiveness in human relationships? This event will offer an opportunity to attend to several voices in the debate, claim a stance with scriptural and theological integrity, explore the relationship between forgiveness and reconciliation, and engage in several key practices that help us learn the "craft" of forgiving.

Marjorie Thompson, director of the Pathways Center at Upper Room Ministries in Nashville, Tennessee, will lead this event.

Continuing Education Event—"Current Options in Homiletic Method"
Erdman Hall
10:45 a.m. (Tuesday) to 12:15 p.m. (Wednesday)

Preaching in the postmodern communicational context requires a variety of preaching genres with different approaches to text and context. This seminar will introduce participants to a variety of current preaching methods, giving special attention to the theological and rhetorical assumptions, strengths, and weaknesses of each. Participants will be invited to test a variety of approaches, using upcoming lectionary texts.

Sally A. Brown, PTS's assistant professor of preaching and worship, will lead this event.

◆ Facilities Announcement
Smoke and Carbon Monoxide Detectors

Residents of CRW, Tennent, Roberts Hall, and Payne Hall Apartments: You now have both smoke and carbon monoxide detectors in your apartments. If an alarm goes off, please try to determine which alarm is sounding before calling the security base station. This will help security and maintenance determine what action is necessary to respond to the alarm. In CRW, Tennent, and Roberts Halls, the smoke detectors are round; the CO detectors are square. In Payne Hall, both are round in shape.

If the smoke detector activates due to cooking smoke, please open the windows in your apartment to air out the room. Do not open the door to the common hallways, as this will activate the fire alarm for the entire building. If the carbon monoxide detector activates, contact the security base station at 497-7777. Security or maintenance will respond with a hand-held meter to test the carbon monoxide level to see if there is a need to vacate the apartment for a short period of time or if there is a technical problem with the carbon monoxide detector.

The smoke detectors on the main campus automatically ring to the security base station and security patrol can be dispatched to the individual apartment. Please note: Smoke detectors in CRW do not automatically ring to the security base station. If the general fire alarms do ring, it is important that people leave the building, calmly but quickly, for their own safety, until security determines if there is any danger. Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

Princeton University Center for the Study of Religion Lecture—"Lincoln's God"
Princeton University 4:30 p.m.
Robertson Hall, Dodds Auditorium

Mark Noll, the McManis Professor of Christian Thought and professor of history at Wheaton College, will deliver a lecture titled "Lincoln's God" on the Princeton University campus.

The lecture cuts through the thickets of myth that surround Abraham Lincoln's religion to argue that, although Lincoln's beliefs changed during his life, some of his perspectives remained markedly constant. Noll offers a careful historical picture of key events and relationships in Lincoln's life that are central to understanding his religion. He also speculates on why the question of Lincoln's religion has been so perennially fascinating and contentious.

The lecture is the first in a three-year series offered by the Princeton University Center for the Study of Religion featuring speakers who combine strong interests in public affairs with rich understanding of theology, theological ethics, philosophy of religion, and religious history. Noll's lecture is sponsored by the Reynolds Trust.

Noll has written widely on the interaction of Christianity and culture in 18th- and 19th-century Anglo-American societies. The author and editor of more than 20 books, he most recently authored America's God, from Jonathan Edwards to Abraham Lincoln (Oxford University Press, 2002); The Old Religion in a New World: The History of North American Christianity (Eerdmans, 2002); and The Work We Have to Do: A History of Protestants in America (second edition, Oxford University Press, 2002).

Noll earned a bachelor of arts in English from Wheaton College, a master's in comparative literature from the University of Iowa, a master's in church history from the Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, and a Ph.D. in American religious history from Vanderbilt University. He has taught at Wheaton College since 1979.

Ten-Time Grammy Award Winner Bobby McFerrin to Headline Benefit for Trenton Children's Chorus
Trenton War Memorial 7:30 p.m.
Patriots Theater, Memorial Drive, Trenton

Ten-time Grammy Award winner Bobby McFerrin will headline a benefit concert for the Trenton Children's Chorus at the Patriots Theater of the War Memorial in Trenton.

People in almost every country in the world knows Bobby McFerrin's 1988 pop hit, "Don't Worry, Be Happy," a joyous tune he created on the spot in a recording studio. His recordings have sold more than 20 million copies, and his collaborations with Yo-Yo Ma, Chick Corea, the Vienna Philharmonic, and Herbie Hancock have established him as an ambassador of both classical and jazz worlds. As one of the foremost guardians of music's rich heritage, Bobby McFerrin remains at the vanguard with his natural, beautiful, and timeless music that transcends all borders and embraces all cultures. McFerrin is an ardent advocate of musical training and education for young people.

The Trenton Children's Chorus was founded in 1989 by artistic director Sue Ellen Page so that children in Trenton might sing a wide range of choral literature and to provide a way for children from different backgrounds to get to know one another through artistic endeavor. Elementary and middle school students in the Trenton Children's Chorus meet after school weekly at the Imani Community Center for rehearsal, music theory, supervised homework and tutoring, snack and recreation. A choir for high school students meets in the evening.

The Trenton Children's Chorus and the Covenant Singers (a blended middle-school choir of students from the Trenton Children's Chorus and the Nassau Presbyterian Church Choir) have performed in concert with Dave Brubeck, with Princeton Pro Musica, before the New Jersey State Legislature, with the Greater Trenton Symphony Orchestra, and with the

The Arts at St. John's Organist Recital

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church
32 South Fifth Street, Allentown, Pennsylvania

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church invites the public to hear celebrated organist Frederick Swann in a recital at 7:30 p.m.

Swann followed Virgil Fox at the Riverside Church in New York and was for many years organist at the famed Crystal Cathedral in California. He was awarded the Performer of the Year Award in 2002 by the New York Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, and has since been named national president of that organization.

This is Swann's final concert tour, after which he plans to give his organ shoes a rest and enjoy retirement. There is a suggested charge of $10 for regular admission, and $5 for seniors and students.

For more information, contact Stephen Williams, director of the Arts at St. John's, at 610-435-1641 or email stepwill@enter.net.

Princeton University's Center for the Study of Religion Colloquium—"Interdisciplinary Colloquium on the Moral Implications of Mysticism in the World Religions"

Princeton University, Peyton Hall (Astrophysical Sciences Department), Ivy Lane, Princeton
8:00 a.m. (Saturday) to 12:00 p.m. (Sunday)

Ever since William James delivered just over one hundred years ago an open-minded, sensitive, and wide-ranging phenomenology of the experiential aspects of religion, it has become increasingly clear that the phenomena of religious experience, and of mysticism in particular, can and ought to be made the object of unprejudiced academic inquiry.

It has been shown that mystical experiences play an important part in the history of human consciousness, that they have momentous effects on human lives, and can transform the way in which mystics perceive, react, and relate to their social and natural environment.

Mysticism has not only speculative and experiential dimensions, but also profoundly moral ones, and the discussion of the precise relationship between mysticism and ethical thought has recently received increased academic attention.

This colloquium brings together scholars of mysticism and ethics in the various world religions in order to explore, critically and cooperatively, the possible implications of mysticism for a foundation of moral beliefs and values.

Christian Wildberg, associate professor of the Department of Classics at Princeton University, will give the opening remarks.

Session One: "Hinduism and Buddhism," includes Christopher Chapple (Hinduism) from Loyola Marymount University, with Lisle Vail from Montclair State University,responding.

Steven Heine (Buddhism) from Florida International University, with Jacqueline Stone, director of graduate studies, Department of Religion at Princeton University, responding.

Session Two: "Christianity and Islam," includes Beverly Lanzetta (Medieval Christianity) from the University of Arizona, with Paul Rorem, PTS's Benjamin B. Warfield Professor of Medieval Church History, responding.

Paul Heck (Islam), a Coten Fellow from the Council of Humanities at Princeton University, with Barbara von Schlegell from the University of Pennsylvania, responding.

Session Three will be a roundtable discussion with remarks by Daniel Zelinski from the Center for the Study of Religion at Princeton University and The College of William and Mary, and William Wainwright from the University of Wisconsin.

Session Four: "Judaism and Modernity" includes Elliot Wolfson (Judaism) from New York University, with Jerome Gellman from Ben-Gurion University, responding.

Russ Nieli (Wittgenstein) from the Department of Politics at Princeton University, with Mark Lazenby from Gwynedd-Mercy College, responding.

The colloquium is sponsored by Princeton University's Center for the Study of Religion, the Department of Classics, and the Department of Religion. The colloquium is free and open to the public. For more information, please go to www.princeton.edu/~wildberg/mysticism.html.
